

Sugar Legislation Dispute Continues To Stall Congress

House and Senate Fail to Agree on Authority for Ike

BY EDMOND LE BRETON
Washington —P— Sugar legislation, loaded with inter-American political dynamite, blew up congress' hopes for adjournment early today.

An abrupt house recess at 3:36 a. m. forced both branches of congress to continue today the post-convention session they had struggled through the night to end. The senate gave up 45 minutes later.

The two houses were at loggerheads over whether President Eisenhower should have unqualified authority to cut sugar purchases from the Dominican Republic.

A house bill would have given him limited authority, but it imposed conditions which Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen said would be impossible to meet.

Long Meetings

The senate, by a 62-17 vote, passed instead a substitute by Dirksen to give the president discretionary power, with no strings attached, to cut or terminate the Dominican quota. The house then quit for the night rather than try to reach any immediate agreement.

At that time, the house had been in session 151 hours and the senate more than 18 hours in an effort to wind up the session and clear the way.

Youth Dies in Car Accident

Ronald Brandes, 19, Killed When Auto Hits Abutment

Chilton — Ronald Brandes, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Brandes, route 1, Chilton, was killed at 1:55 a. m. today about 11 miles from his home when his car crashed into a concrete abutment at the Walter Ruh farm on County Trunk F, four miles west of here.

The fatality is the eighth in Calumet county this year. The 1959 traffic toll was eight. His death raises the state traffic toll to 513, ten less than on this date a year ago.

Coroner LeRoy Hughes said Brandes apparently died instantly when a piece of chrome pierced his jugular vein. The youth also suffered a basal skull fracture, Hughes said.

Car Swerved

Sheriff C. J. Kosmosky said Brandes' car swerved across the road and traveled some 600 feet on the shoulder before crashing into the driveway abutment. Ruh and his hired hand, Maurice Finnegan, were awakened by the crash and called the police and a doctor.

According to Brandes' parents, the youth was returning from a bowling league meeting at Hilbert. It is believed he fell asleep at the wheel.

A 1958 graduate of Chilton High school, Brandes was employed by the Greg-Propson Trucking company, Chilton. He is survived by his parents and a sister, Arline, at home. He was born Oct. 4, 1940 in the town of Stockbridge.

Funeral services will be at 2 p. m. Saturday at Ebenezer Evangelical and Reformed church, with burial in Hillside cemetery.

Enforcing of Truck Speed Laws Explained

New Catholic Parish Set Up In Appleton

Sacred Heart to be Divided to Form St. Bernadette's

Establishment of a new Catholic parish in Appleton, created through a division of Sacred Heart parish, was announced Wednesday by Bishop Stanislaus V. Bona, Green Bay.

Creation of the new parish, St. Bernadette, with the Rev. Willard McKinnon, Weyauwega as pastor, was made at the same time as the establishment of St. Lawrence parish, Navarino.

St. Lawrence, which has been a mission attached to St. Denis' parish, Shiocton, will have its first resident pastor, the Rev. Harold Riedy, Niagara.

Plans Not Announced
The boundary lines for St. Bernadette parish were not announced. A church and school will be built on the former Joseph Wittman property, north of John street and east of Buchanan street in the town of Buchanan. Part of the 23 acres of land will be given to the parish.

No plans for building or for housing St. Bernadette parish activities have been announced. Father McKinnon's appointment is effective Sept. 8.

Sacred Heart parish, which includes all of Appleton south of the Fox river, has a membership of 1,700 units (families and single persons). The

Russia Wants Big Belgian Bases to Go to Lumumba

United Nations, N.Y.—P—Russia demanded last night that Sec. Gen. Dag Hammarskjöld turn over the two big Belgian bases in the Congo to Premier Patrice Lumumba's government as soon as possible.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Vasily M. Kuznetsov called on Hammarskjöld at U.N. headquarters, protested the continued presence of some 600 Belgian combat troops in the Congo and also demanded that the secretary let an equal number of Belgian army technicians remain to maintain the Kamina and Kitona bases just taken over by U.N. forces.

Adviser to Moscow

Former U. S. Official Working for Russians

Washington —P— The state department reports a former U.S. official apparently is working in Moscow now as an adviser to the Kremlin on Latin American affairs.

The department said Maurice H. Halperin had been in the Soviet Union since December, 1958. It said Halperin stated he is employed by the U.S.S.R. Academy of Sciences.

Halperin stated in a passport renewal application that he had been in the Soviet Union since December, 1958. It said Halperin stated he is employed by the U.S.S.R. Academy of Sciences.

Recalling that Halperin during the latter part of World war II was head of the office of strategic services' Latin American division, the department said its information indicates he now is working in the field of Latin American affairs for the Russians. The Soviet Academy of Sciences is directly subordinate to the council of ministers.

Halperin was an associate professor at Boston university after leaving government service. He was on the faculty of the University of Oklahoma before the war.

He was dismissed by Boston university in 1954 after senate investigators received testimony linking him to a Soviet spy ring and he refused to answer questions as to whether he was a communist.

A state department background account on Halperin, drawn in part from newspaper files, said that in 1940 he had cashed a $436.01 check drawn on the Moscow Bank of Foreign Trade, that he associated with known individuals of leftist tendencies and had been a member of organizations regarded as leftist.

The department said that

Pennsylvania Railroad Shut Down by Strike

Thousands of Commuters Hit; No Prospect Seen For Early Settlement

Philadelphia —P— A strike shut down the entire Pennsylvania railroad today for the first time in its 114-year history. There was no immediate prospect of an early settlement.

Negotiators continued to work for a settlement almost until the 12:01 a. m. deadline. Then, with the deadline past, angry statements were issued by the company and union officials. They seemed to wipe out whatever progress had been made in several weeks of intense bargaining.

"The negotiations are back to scratch," said James R. Symes, board chairman of the railroad. "They are broken, not recessed."

"All we can do is play it by ear," a union spokesman said. "This is a disastrous strike and what might happen next is anybody's guess."

Francis A. O'Neill, Jr., chairman of the national (railway) mediation board said he would meet today with union officials and perhaps with company leaders.

Mayor Issues
The strike by more than 20,000 non-operating employees of the nation's largest railroad came on the eve of the Labor day weekend.

They struck to obtain job classifications and to stop the railroad from contracting repair work to outside companies.

The two unions involved — the transport workers and the system federation — set up picket lines at stations, shops and yards along the Pennsylvania's 10,000 miles

Relief From Heat Wave Temporary

Cold Front Blows Over Fox Cities; Temperature Falls

Fox Cities area residents got temporary relief from the sweltering heat and high humidity today as a cold front blew over from Lake Michigan.

The temperature was 82 at 9:45 a. m. today but dropped 12 degrees as 30 to 40 mile an hour winds powered the squall line in from the northeast an hour later.

Some areas in the storm's path got heavy showers, the Green Bay weather bureau said. The front will hold temperatures to the high 70s or low 80s today. The mercury is expected to dip into the 60s tonight. A return of hot and humid weather is expected Friday.

Wednesday's high of 92 was the second highest recorded for an Aug. 31 since 1927. The previous high was 94 in 1937. A high of 90 was recorded in 1941. The temperature a year ago today was 75 under clear skies. The low during the night was 60. The low recorded last night was a humid 73. The discomfort index at 6 a. m. today was 75.

Saturday is to be sunny with near normal temperatures. The 30-day weather outlook calls for normal precipitation and above normal temperatures.

The warm weather over the last three days accounts for the longest heat wave this summer. No let up is expected.

Southerly winds fanned the hot air across the plains Wednesday when thermometers bubbled above the 100-degree mark. The midwest also simmered in 90-plus temperatures. It was 96 in Chicago.

Steven Timmons, 3, and his sister, Kathleen, 5, make a disconsolate picture as they sit in New York's Pennsylvania station and hold a notice that the Pennsylvania railroad cancelled their train home to St. Louis because of the rail strike.

3,369 Watch Game

Foxes Down Topeka To Clinch 3-I Flag

A total of 3,369 fans at Goodland field Wednesday night saw the Fox Cities Foxes capture the 1960 Three-I league pennant.

The Foxes dumped the Topeka Reds, 7-2, with 6-hit pitching (by "Buster" Narum), sensational fielding and a 10-hit attack. Sioux City, which had still remained a mathematical chance for the pennant — though not much else — was bumped (10-1) by Cedar Rapids for the eighth straight time.

Through 11 years of Class D operation in the old Wisconsin State league and two previous seasons of Class B Three-I league ball, an Appleton based-club had never won a pennant.

This is the first year of affiliation with the Baltimore Orioles after two years of a working Class B agreement with the Washington Senators.

'Details on the pennant-clinging game and a post-game banquet story, a picture lay-out on the big night's festivities and a column on the Foxes by Sports Editor John Paustian are all on the sports pages of tonight's Post-Crescent).

Situation Not Well in Hand

Good Ol' Mel Bewildered Over Raucous Reception by Marines

BY PATRICK McNULTY

Laguna Beach, Calif.—P—

"These people are crazy — what makes them act this way?" said Good Ol' Mel, bewildered but still game hero of "Melvin Miller week."

"But I'm going to see this thing through, even if it kills me," said the Peoria, Ill., tractor factory foreman who today officially begins his week-long reign as king of this seaside resort.

His raucous reception last night quite probably would have made seasoned political campaigners cry enough.

In case anyone hasn't heard, Melvin is the ordinary joe whose free week in Laguna dates to a zany long-distance telephone call last Labor day weekend.

On that now historic occasion, Marine Capt. Joe Gestson — searching for his misplaced automobile — quite by accident called Peoria and got Melvin, a complete stranger. They became long-distance buddies, and practical joker Gestson organized a drive to bring Melvin to Laguna for a week of fun in the sun.

The joke, by this time a nationwide gag, paid off last night when Melvin stepped off a jet airliner in Los Angeles into chaos.

"I never expected anything like this," said Melvin, non-drunk, father of three, joe whose free week in Laguna dates to a zany long-distance telephone call last Labor day weekend.

Union Officials Deny Trying to Test Firm's Policy

Racine —P— Two officers of the striking United Auto Workers Local 180 have denied that they were trying to test company policy when they remained away from work at the J. I. Case company on March 1.

Anthony Valeo, president, and Ralph Steiner, recording secretary of Local 180, testified Wednesday they had no conversation with any Case official about their plans to stay off their jobs and engage in union activities on March 1.

They testified at a national labor relations board hearing on unfair labor practices filed by the union and the company.

William Chown, a former official of the farm machinery firm, testified Tuesday that the two officers were testing the firm's position and that they had asked what would happen if they did not report on March 1.

The men subsequently were laid off for three days for failure to report for work.

TV Debates to Start Sept. 26

Nixon, Kennedy To Meet at Least 3, Possibly 4 Times

New York —P— Nixon-Kennedy television and radio debates—certainly three and possibly four—will start Sept. 26.

Other joint appearances on the air have been scheduled for Oct. 13 and Oct. 21. One on Oct. 8 may be added.

Each program will be carried, without sponsorship, on all major TV and radio networks.

Arrangements were made yesterday for the first face-to-face TV and radio debates between major party nominees for president.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Sen. John F. Kennedy will speak from network studios. There will be no studio audiences.

Representatives of the two candidates worked out the plans with officials of the major networks—NBC, CBS, ABC and Mutual.

The first debate will be on domestic policies. The program, originating in Chicago, will be from 7:30 to 8:30 p. m. CST.

The Oct. 13 program format will be that of a news panel discussion in which Kennedy and Nixon will reply to questions asked by newsmen. The time and place of origin will be decided later.

Foreign Policy will be the subject of the Oct. 21 debate. The program will be from 8 to 9 p. m. (CST) and will originate in New York City.

If a program is aired on Oct. 8, it will have a panel format like that of the Oct. 13 program.

Mexican President Offers Mediation

Mexico City—P—President Adolfo Lopez Mateos pledged his government's good offices today to attempt a reconciliation between the United States and Cuba.

In a 4-hour annual state of the nation report to congress, Lopez Mateos said the mission of each of the American states "consists of keeping united in peace and harmony this great family in which Cuba rightfully holds a place of distinction."

"The preliminary approaches did not have the immediate result we wished," the president said. "Nevertheless, Mexico will not cease in its effort to serve unreservedly the cause of friendship and harmony among the American republics."

Reds Rigorously Enforce Travel Ban

Communist Police Mass at Main Crossings Into Berlin Because of Refugee Meeting

Berlin —A— East German communists rigorously enforced today a travel ban on West German visitors to Berlin. Communist police massed at main crossing points between the two parts of the divided city to prevent West Germans who do not live in Berlin from visiting the eastern sector.

Guards along the East German frontier turned back West German travelers seeking to visit the city, isolated 110 miles behind the Iron Curtain.

Cars on the lifeline autobahn crossing East Germany from the West were searched. Even hubcaps were removed and every second passenger was forced to open his suitcase.

The communists imposed their travel restrictions Wednesday. The ban is supposed to continue through Monday — the day meetings here of former residents of East Germany end.

Meeting Opens
But the convention of ex-prisoners of war and relatives of missing soldiers — one of the meetings that has aroused communist ire — opened on time and apparently with all delegates present.

The organizers said the delegates evaded communist controls by flying in western aircraft. The airlines were making no attempt to dissuade air travel to Berlin despite communist threats against "misuse of the air corridors."

So far, the communist clamp-down has brought no incidents. But West Berlin newspapers angrily demanded that the western Big Three powers take vigorous counteraction.

Warn Moscow
Der Tagesspiegel said the issue of the East Germans' "arbitrary action" in interfering with the city's traffic must be taken directly to Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev.

The Telegram, which is close to Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt, called on the western allies to warn Moscow that East German communist party leader Walter Ulbricht was "playing with fire if he continues to dispute the right of West Berliners to live on their own territory."

The Big Four powers nominally rule Berlin, but a Western protest to the Russians over restrictions on travel in the city met a rebuff. A Soviet spokesman said the issue was up to the East German government — a regime the West does not recognize.

Cautions Germans
Two British newspapers called the refugee meetings provocative and cautioned the West Germans against exploiting allied support. The London Times said the Western powers are honor bound not to abandon West Berlin but declared:

"Such principles do not include the exploitation of their altruism for dubious purposes. This heading clearly includes the meetings this week of German irredentist organizations seeking the return of former German-inhabited territories now under Polish rule."

Lawyers Decide They Don't Like Connally Rule

American Bar Votes Against U. S. Action in World Court

Washington —A— The policy makers of the American Bar association have decided by a vote of 114-107 that they still don't like the controversial Connally reservation.

The ABA house of delegates Wednesday approved a resolution urging the senate to repeal the 14-year-old reservation which limits United States' acceptance of the world court's jurisdiction.

Under it, this country reserves the right to decide whether a court case against it involves a domestic matter and thus is exempt from world court rulings.

Likely to Stand
While the ABA decision— reaffirming one made 13 years ago — was likely to stand, the issue still remained alive at the association's 83rd annual meeting. The question was scheduled for still another airing before the ABA assembly, consisting of all 6,000 lawyers attending the annual meeting.

The assembly could take an opposite position, supporting the Connally reservation. However, its action would be subject to review by the house of delegates which presumably would take the same stand it took Wednesday and throw out the assembly action.

Since 28 members of the house did not vote, however, there remained a chance that the decision might be reversed. There also was a remote chance that the issue might have to be submitted to a mail referendum of the ABA's nearly 100,000 members.

Action Prevented
In the U. S. senate, opposition of some members prevented action this year on a resolution to repeal the limitation.

In opposing the reservation, the lawyers' group took the position recommended by President Eisenhower in a talk to the association on Monday. Among the house members voting with the majority were Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers and Solicitor General J. Lee Rankin.

Eisenhower pictured the reservation as a stumbling block to the establishment of a world rule of law, inasmuch as it permits the United States to decide on a case-by-case basis whether it will be subject to the world court's jurisdiction.

AHA Urges Doctors Use Chemical Names Of Drugs, Not Brand

San Francisco —A— The American Hospital association, has recommended physicians in its 3,600 member hospitals use chemical names instead of brand names in prescriptions.

The recommendation was made by the AHA house of delegates Wednesday at the organization's annual convention.

Plight of Negroes Draws Eye Of Top Michigan Officials

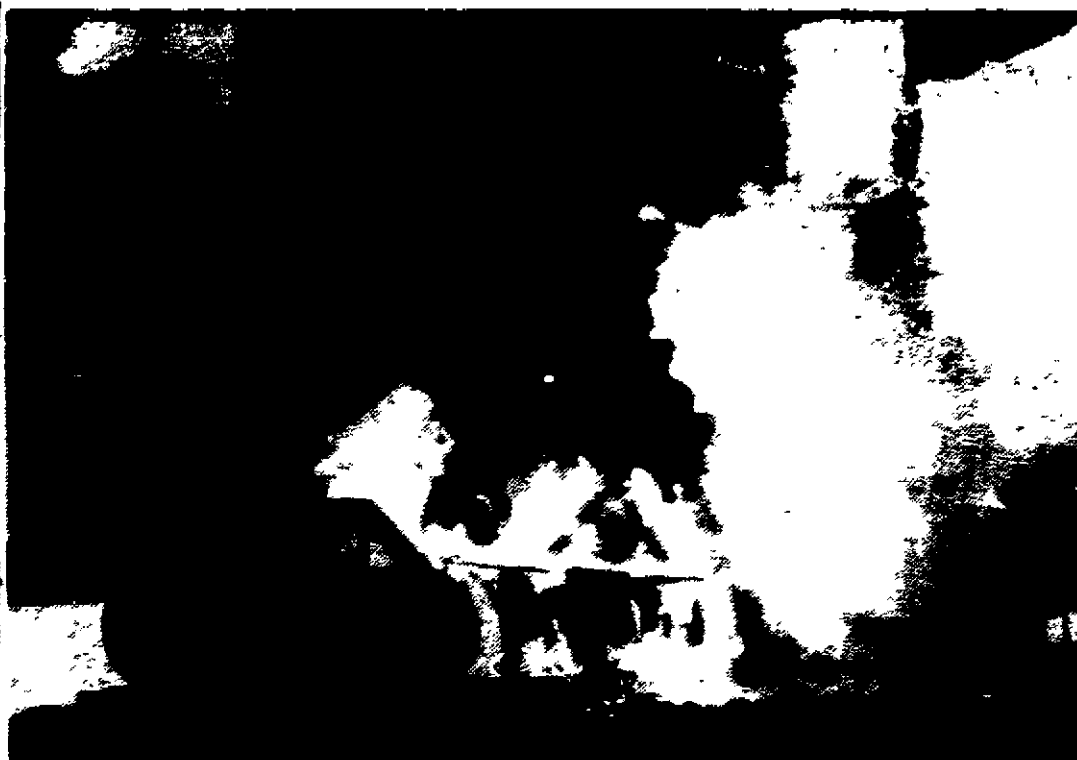

Detroit —A— The plight of 24 suburban Negro students who have no high school in which to enroll next week drew the attention of top Michigan officials today.

The 24 were among the 60 who were graduated in June from elementary school in the little Detroit suburban community of Royal Oak township.

They want to continue their education, but none of the surrounding communities — Detroit, Ferndale or Oak Park — have been able to work out arrangements to take the students into their schools.

The basic problem is that Royal Oak township is an untidy remnant of World War II — a shantytown. The frame-work of the community was set up by the federal government which threw up scores of flimsy barracks to house migrant workers needed for defense industries.

When peace came, the

A Fire Discovered at 6 a.m. Wednesday leveled the Waushara Farmco cooperative fertilizer plant at Wautoma, causing damage estimated at $25,000 or more. Origin of the fire was undetermined. The large wooden building had been used several years ago as a pickle company warehouse.

Congressional Record Up for Huge Additions

Rep. A. C. Powell, Jr., Seeks Insert Costing $1,323 or About 15 Pages

Washington —A— The congressional record, that cherished anthology of speeches both delivered and merely thought of, may require several volumes to chronicle the last day of the 86th congress.

Before the members of the house went home, so many of them asked for and got "unanimous consent to revise and extend remarks, and include extraneous matter" that some of the other members whistled out loud.

Some of the most piercing whistles were provoked by the request, duly granted, of Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, Jr., (D-N.Y.) to insert material notwithstanding a cost of $1,323.

Fill 15 Pages
That meant Powell gets to fill about 15 pages of the record. Members can use as much as two pages at a time with no questions of cost asked; beyond that they must include an estimate with their request. At latest count, the official price for printing a page was something under $100.

Several members, including Rep. H. R. Gross (R-Iowa), wanted to know what valuable contributions accounted for the flood of insertion requests. They were especially interested in Powell's $1,323 offering.

Powell wasn't there, and Rep. John W. McCormack of Massachusetts said he couldn't be very enlightening. He is the Democratic leader through whom most of the requests from the Democratic side were funneled.

Didn't Know
"I'm just a conduit," declared McCormack, and said he wouldn't think of getting involved in a decision of other members' judgment about what should go into the record.

Powell's office aides told newsmen they didn't know either, what the congressman wanted published.

May Help Curb
McCormack's Republican counterpart, Rep. Charles A. Halleck, Indiana, laughed off a suggestion by Rep. Clare Hoffman (R-Mich.) that he save time by just getting consent for everybody in the house to put whatever he liked in the record.

But Halleck volunteered to Col. John Paul Stapp assumed duties as a special assistant for aero-space medicine at the advance studies group of the aerospace medical center.

He has been chief of the aerospace medical division of the Wright air development center at Dayton, Ohio.

Stapp rode a rocket-powered sled on a rail 76 times at Holloman AFB, N. M., during a series of experiments aimed at determining the effects of bailing out of aircraft at high speeds.

His body was subjected to a force 25 times as great as his own weight when he reached 632 miles per hour and braked to a halt in 1.4 seconds in 1954.

Overdue Tuition
Detroit officials, citing fruitless attempts to collect $125,000 in overdue tuition money from the township, closed its doors to Royal Oak township students for the school year starting next week.

Oak Park and Ferndale said they had no room; that class-room schedules had been drawn up weeks ago and teacher assignments made.

Some Negro leaders said the failure to find classroom space for the 24 was based on racial prejudice. School officials in the Detroit, Oak Park and Ferndale, denied this.

Ecuador Gets New President For Fourth Time

Jose Ibarra Takes Office While His Predecessor Boycotts

Quito, Ecuador —A— Jose Maria Velasco Ibarra returned to the presidency of Ecuador Wednesday night for the fourth time at an inauguration boycotted by his predecessor.

Velasco Ibarra, who was expelled from office twice by revolution, took the oath before a joint session of congress.

Conspicuously absent was Camilo Ponce Henriquez, who resigned a few hours before his term expired so he would not have to swear in his successor, a bitter critic of his regime. The oath was administered instead by the outgoing president Francisco Velasco Illingworth.

The ceremony was attended by Carlos Maria Cardinal de la Torre, Roman Catholic archbishop of Quito, and officials and diplomats from 42 nations. U. S. Under Sec. of State, C. Douglas Dillon, repaid to a resented President Eisenhower.

In his 2-hour acceptance speech, the 67-year-old prelate declared Ecuador would not be bound by the 1942 settlement of its boundary dispute with Peru. The American nations mediated the dispute after sporadic fighting and set up a frontier line that gave much of the disputed territory to Peru.

Blasts Regime
To cut Ecuador off from an outlet to the Amazon, Velasco Ibarra declared, was "a wily abuse of force which cannot and will not continue."

The new president also blasted Ponce's regime. "Perhaps never has there been a weaker and more corrupt administration than the one which ends today," he declared.

Velasco Ibarra scored an overwhelming victory in the June elections, chalking up a margin of more than 130,000 votes over Ponce. The new president also is supported by a large majority in congress.

Cuban Rulers Trying To Wipe Out Signs of Foreign Oil Ownership

Castro Forces Confident They Have Won Petroleum Monopoly; Some Problems Arise

Havana —A— Confident it seized refineries are operating normally, although their Cuban government's petroleum monopoly is now trying to wipe out all physical signs of foreign ownership of the refineries it seized.

Tank trucks and filling stations of the former Esso, Standard, Shell and Texaco refineries have lost their distinctive colors and well-advertised names and slogans. day. Under private ownership, all this has been replaced with the green and white sign of ICP — for Fidel Castro's day.

Pumps Repainted
Station pumps and storage tanks throughout Cuba have been repainted to erase the markings of the multi-million-dollar American, Dutch and British oil holdings. Castro seized because the owners refused to process Soviet crude oil. Unofficial reports say the Soviet Union's tankers are more than satisfying Cuba's immediate need for both crude oil and petroleum products. But the cost of this long distance operation — bringing Russian oil from day as commander in chief of Black sea ports to Cuba — has not been disclosed.

Thirteen tankers delivered nearly one million tons of crude oil to Cuba in July plus 125,000 tons of fuel oil and quantities of other products. The same delivery rate was maintained in August, official sources claim.

Oil Problems
The Castro government felt so secure of its petroleum position that it authorized the proportion of sugar alcohol in locally produced gasoline reduced from 20 to 15 per cent. The announcement said the government needed more molasses for sale abroad.

Cuban sources said all three:

ropolitan area, many thousands of commuters were affected. The shutdown of big Pennsylvania station, plus the halting of its commuter trains running into New York from New Jersey affected some 21,000 persons.

The greatest effect was on patrons of the Long Island railroad, which also uses Penn station in carrying 85,000 daily commuters to and from the city, plus many thousands of other travelers.

Earlier Strike
The Long Island began terminating its trains at points in Brooklyn and Queens where riders could transfer to city buses and subways to get to work. Only a month ago the Long Island resumed service after a trainmen's strike. For 26 days the line's commuters had to scramble for alternate transportation.

Commuters Hit
The most immediate effect will be on commuters, but if the strike lasts, the pinch will be felt by industries in the east and midwest which depend on the Pennsy to ship their products and bring in raw materials. The railroad operates in 13 states and the District of Columbia.

Bus companies, airlines and other railroads reported sharp increases in passenger and freight traffic and extra service to handle the load. Trailways Bus Lines, for example, said it would "approximately triple" its daily trips between New York and Washington.

The New Haven railroad said its nine trains a day through Pennsylvania station in New York, on the Boston-Washington run, would be cancelled. The road added that extra cars would be put on Boston-bound trains using New Grand Central terminal in New York City.

Service Changed
The Seaboard Line said its eight trains daily into and out of New York from Florida and Alabama would not operate between Washington and New York, on which they use the Pennsylvania's tracks. Service south of Washington is not affected.

The Atlantic Coastline said its six trains a day between Florida and New York would terminate at Washington.

sion cameramen, reporters, ladies in maumous — baggy Hawaiian dresses — and marines, jet pilots, beach boys, beach girls — all wanted to say hello to the crew-cut factory worker.

Easy Evening
Barricaded in a corner, Melvin shook hands with a couple of hundred. He tended bar. He posed for pictures under hot TV lights as fans stood on tables and chairs.

Many held their wives and girl friends on their shoulders to get a peek at Peoria's pride.

Finally Melvin and Gestson — like commandos infiltrating enemy lines — wriggled out of the jam and a breath of ocean air on the sidewalk.

There was no rest for Melvin.

By now in shirtsleeves and trying to light his pipe, he was lifted onto the curbside tractor for more pictures.

"I don't drive tractors, I just handle the paper work," Melvin protested.

Finally Goes To Motel
The excitement continued of amid lacy cries of "hooray for Melvin!" from the sidewalk crowd.

Melvin, fortified by only a few sips of milk in the bar, was sweating.

Gestson elbowed through for another quiet evening.

Motor Yacht Wins Catholic School Battle to Stay Afloat in Pacific

Honolulu — (U) — The crippled 126-foot Seattle motor yacht Wild Goose II — with nine feet of water in its hull — has won its battle for survival and is heading for Honolulu.

The coast guard cutter Matagorda reached the vessel at 6:50 Wednesday night, 250 miles southeast of here, and put aboard a repair party.

The yacht, carrying 18 persons including a 4-year-old Maori girl on her way for treatment of a heart defect, radioed the coast guard for help early Wednesday after a mysterious breach in the hull let the sea in.

The passengers pitched in for a continuous 9-hour fight to keep the boat afloat. At one point all below decks compartments forward of the engine room were flooded.

The Wild Goose II, owned by Seattle lumberman Max Wyman, is skippered by James Blackburn, of London, England.

The mob and led a strategic withdrawal to Melvin's ocean front motel. There the two switchboard pals said goodnight. Melvin was for a few hours free of the tribulations of the famous.

Today he appears at a civic breakfast and then will be whisked to nearby Del Mar race track for the running of the Melvin Miller stakes.

Then back to the Sandpiper large vein to the heart.

Catholic School Admits Negroes

Houston — (U) — Nine Negro students are among the 107 scheduled to attend formerly all-white St. Mary's Catholic school today.

The Rev. Dexter S. George, pastor of St. Mary's Catholic church, said the Negroes were enrolled in the first, second and third grades this week.

Father George said St. Mary's parish has more than 800 Negro Catholic families and the church has been integrated for several years.

The Most Rev. Wendelin Joseph Nold, bishop of the Galveston-Houston diocese, said Sunday that no other Catholic schools in Houston will be desegregated at this time.

Houston, with the nation's largest segregated school system, is under court order to integrate its first grade when classes start this week.

Sea Elephant Dies Of 'Broken Heart'

Memphis — (U) — A lonely sea elephant died of what some might call a broken heart just one month after his mate starved herself to an early grave.

The two creatures, similar to sea lions, were brought to the Memphis zoo in April soon after their capture in Mexican waters. The female would not eat and wasted away.

The male seemed to be in perfect condition. The autopsy performed to determine the reason for his unexpected death disclosed a rupture of a large vein to the heart.

Dispute Over Sugar Stalls End of Session

for active political campaigning.

It was assumed on all sides that the session would wound up today, one way or another. Guesses varied on what would be done about sugar. There was even some talk of accepting a deadlock and making campaign armistice of it.

It was the second time this year that the touchy problem of sugar had delayed adjournment. The two houses had battled into early Sunday morning, July 3, over giving Eisenhower authority to cut Cuba's sugar quota. At that time congress was trying to quit for a month for the political conventions.

All other major legislation had been disposed of last night in the adjournment drive.

Compromises Reached
Compromising their differences, the senate and house voted to give Eisenhower $65 million more for foreign aid — much less than the $190 million the senate had voted. House conferees had refused to agree to any addition until the house itself voted the added amount.

A limited housing bill was pushed through both houses. It extends the FHA home improvement loan program and provides added funds for loans for college dormitories and such municipal projects as water and sewage systems.

The senate sent to the White House a bill authorizing a new $600 million aid program for Latin America, for which money will be asked next year.

The house, by a 171-32 vote, completed congressional action on a bill to increase price supports for butterfat and milk despite opponents' cries that it was a political move likely to be vetoed. Advocates contended it would give dairy farmers a needed lift.

Possibilities both of a veto and of an October special session of congress were raised in senate debate as the alternative to giving Eisenhower workable authority to deal with the Dominican situation. But some house members refused angrily to back down.

Chairman Harold D. Cooley (D-NC) of the house agriculture committee accused the senate of "treating us like morons" and the state department of seeking the overthrow of the Rafael Trujillo regime in the Dominican Republic.

He called his committee into session today "to discuss the whole situation."

"If the executive wants to declare war on the Dominican Republic, that's one thing," Cooley said, "but if it wants

Motor Vehicle Department Lists Fatal Accident Causes

BY FRED SNYDER
Madison — (U) — A 16-year-old boy dangled his legs out the window of a moving car. The car hit a mail box and the mangle and shock killed the youth.

Six drivers disregarded speed limits and figured in crashes that killed them or their passengers.

Three persons died when right-of-way courtesies were ignored.

These were among causes of accidents on Wisconsin highways during the Labor day weekend in 1959. A total of 20 persons lost their lives.

A review of reasons for accidents, as recorded by the state motor vehicle department, might contribute to more care in the upcoming 3-day holiday and last big traffic movement period of the season.

Wisconsin's worst death count for a Labor day holiday was in 1952 when 27 lives were snuffed out. The toll in 1958 was 22.

Motor vehicle department officials have asked motorists to discipline themselves, to be courteous and to obey the laws to help cut the toll this time.

Law enforcement agencies on municipal, county and state levels will go through the routine of having all available personnel and equipment on duty.

Drinking was blamed for at least three of the fatal accidents last Labor day weekend.

Two deaths resulted from vehicles traveling in wrong lanes.

One man was sleeping on the road, was run over and died.

One death was officially blamed on inattention — a man fell off a moving truck and was killed.

State Lagging Behind Others Economically

Report Shows Eight Comparable Areas Growing Faster

Madison — Wisconsin's economic activity compared unfavorably with that of eight comparable states during two recent periods, a report prepared for a tax subcommittee shows.

The report was presented to the tax burden subcommittee on the 19-member relief to industry in the state group studying an overhaul of the state's tax system. It was prepared by John Wilkie, a Wisconsin's farm income fell his clothes.

state tax department re-17 per cent in 1958, compared to an average decline of 5.9 per cent in the other eight states. "For both the single year period ending Dec. 31, 1958, and the 3-year average," he States used in the study were New Jersey, Indiana, Texas, Massachusetts, Connecticut, North Carolina, Missouri and Maryland. "The general conclusion from this study shows Wisconsin lagging behind these other states during these periods," he told the subcommittee. "Whether Wisconsin made up for this in 1959 and 1960 is another question," he said.

Tax Question

"And whether this is because of the tax situation is still another question," he added. "Based on this survey alone, you might argue some arrived home stark naked. He went swimming in a reservoir. While he was taking a swim, wages made off with his clothes."

School Burned, Pupils Now Have More Space

Cadiz, Ky. — Trigg County High school opened its school year today, housed in a temporary building fashioned from 12 quonset huts.

Superintendent Roy McDonald wasn't a bit upset with the temporary quarters made necessary when the school burned last June.

"It is a very nice situation," he said. "Actually, we will have a little more classroom space in this building than we had in the one that burned."

The OAS and Cuba

Most of the members of the Organization of American States appeared willing to go easy on Cuba in her anti-U. S. and increasingly pro-Communist attitudes. But Fidel Castro didn't give them a chance. With his usual explosiveness, he damned the OAS and its discussion of the Cuban problem, and defied the group to do anything about his friendship with Russia and Red China. Sometimes the local leaders must be a burden to the real professionals of the Communist world.

The Cuban representative at the Costa Rica meeting tried to tone down the effects of Castro's tirade by declaring that it was "a distorted version by hostile news agencies." But finally Raul Roa was forced to lead his delegation out of the OAS meeting after the group voted 18-1, with Venezuela abstaining, on a strongly worded resolution opposing "the aim of Sino-Soviet powers to utilize the economic, political, and social situation of any American state to break continental unity and endanger the peace and security of the hemisphere," and condemning energetically "intervention or the menace of intervention . . . by an extra-continental power in the affairs of the continent or its acceptance by any American states."

Next to Castro's outburst, the clinching argument was Sec. of State Christian Herter's point by point exposal of how far Cuba has come from the basic tenets of democratic free government. These tenets were set out in the Declaration of Santiago a year ago by the Latin American nations. They include seven principles: Rule of law, free elections, fixed terms of office to avoid perpetuation in power, respect for fundamental human rights, effective judicial procedures, opposition to political proscription, and freedom of information. The Cuban record of evasion, censorship, summary trials and executions and the whole sordid story made Roa's complaints of economic imperialism from the U. S. look pretty thin.

The resolution doesn't mean the overthrow of Castro's regime. No OAS troops will march into Havana to ensure free elections. The Communist pressure in Cuba will continue. But the vote is a heartening sign of the maturing of the Latin American republics, of their recognition of the increasing danger of totalitarianism from the left as well as from the right, and their unity in opposing both in the short period of 10 days. Cubans who are sick and appalled at their government can take renewed hope that there is sympathy from other Latin American governments for their efforts to get rid of Castro.

Maybe if Fidel had kept his mouth shut and purred a little, the OAS would have hesitated to be so firm. The bearded leader may now become a liability to the Red bosses as well as to liberty for his country.

Chicago and the Lake Levels

Representatives of six states bordering on the Great Lakes, testifying in opposition to Chicago's use of 3,300 cubic feet per second of Lake Michigan water for sewage purposes, claim that this diversion lowered the level of Lakes Michigan and Huron 3.3 inches. There was testimony also that if three other Illinois communities were permitted to divert Lake Michigan water the lake would be lowered by one foot.

H. H. Lucas, sales manager of the Penn-Dixie Cement corporation plant at Petoskey, Mich., said a one foot reduction in depth would cost his company in the neighborhood of half a million dollars. He said the company would have to do extensive dredging or lighten the load of its cement shipping.

Donald F. Wood, port adviser of the Wisconsin Department of Resources, testified that for every inch the level of the lakes falls shippers must reduce their loads by approximately 100 tons.

The court battle over water diversion by Chicago is no new thing. There have been many other hearings and supporters of the Chicago position frequently have pointed to the damage caused by high water on the lakes. It is recognized by most people that the levels of the lakes fluctuate as much as five feet in a poorly defined cycle.

Sen. Wiley now is urging the U. S. Corps of Engineers to complete a study which was begun in 1952 on this problem but interrupted before its completion. Sen. Wiley has asked Lieut. Gen. E. C. Itchner, chief of the U. S. Corps of Engineers, to include in its 1962 recommendations money to complete this study.

The 1952 study called upon the engineers to determine, if possible, a feasible plan for the regulation of the levels of the lakes for the purpose of reducing damage to shore properties and to improve, if possible, the use of the Great Lakes for navigation. The engineers were instructed also to look into the advisability of adopting local protection flood control projects for areas along the shores and contributing streams subject to inundation as a result of this fluctuation.

Sen. Wiley has pointed out that damage caused by high water levels to Great Lakes shoreline properties in the single year of 1951-52 was estimated by the engineers at $61 billion.

We do not know whether regulation of the lakes' fluctuation is possible. In fact, no one really knows the cause of the fluctuations. But if the problem is ever to be understood by the people living in this area some such study must be made. Continual argument between Chicago and the Great Lakes states should be settled finally and on the basis of scientific information rather than upon the mere desire of Chicago to provide a cheap way of disposing of its sewage.

It seems obvious that the people in the lake states are entitled to the use of the Great Lakes for shipping and to protection against any unnecessary lowering of the levels. Nevertheless it may be possible to control the lake levels. If so, it should be done for that would permit the maximum use of lake water for all purposes.

Baseball at the North Pole

Recently Cmdr. George P. Steele, II, of the nuclear powered American submarine Seadragon, broadcast a report from the North Pole in which he told of a baseball game being played there on an ice floe by members of his crew. It was an interesting story but scarcely a matter of sufficient importance to explain the presence of a submarine at the North Pole.

However, as the public may have guessed, the Seadragon was on more important business. The underwater craft left Portsmouth, N. H., on Aug. 1 and headed north between Greenland and Labrador through Baffin Bay, then west through Parry Channel. Parry Channel is made up of Lancaster Sound, Barrow Strait, Viscount Melville Sound and McClure Strait. These straits and sounds are formed by a great many islands just west of Baffin Bay and somewhat less than half way between the northern mainland of Canada and the North Pole.

The passage through Parry Channel is regarded as important because the Seadragon, by ducking under huge icebergs, has pioneered a new short route from Eastern United States to Alaska. The Navy believes that the Seadragon's feat will result in a short route which may be of great military and commercial advantage in the future. Furthermore, the trip helped to develop new techniques and to test equipment for submarine under-ice operations.

At one point the submarine nosed down more than 300 feet to get under an iceberg which was 879 feet wide and 1,471 feet long. Five earlier submarine attempts at this east-west passage on the same route failed because heavy ice forced a detour. The hope of finding a northwest passage from eastern United States to Asia has attracted many explorers into this area in the past. Very few have had any degree of success and perhaps none as great as that chalked up by Cmdr. Steele and his crew. Canadian Commodore O. C. S. Robertson was aboard the Seadragon as a technical adviser. In 1954, Commodore Robertson, in a Canadian vessel, had completed the transit of this area but by a route far south of Parry Channel.

Hitchhikers Can be Dangerous

Irwin E. Reed, 48, a tavern and dance-hall operator of Prairie du Chien is dead because he picked up a hitchhiker on his way to Minneapolis.

Undoubtedly Reed often heard stories of hitchhikers robbing motorists who gave them rides. He also may have heard of a hitchhiker killing a man who befriended him. But undoubtedly he thought such occurrences were for other people — just things that are reported in the news but that never could happen to him.

No doubt he thought he could easily recognize a killer. He felt sure a young boy living in a small community would never undertake such a crime. But it did happen to him. His body was found in his station wagon where he had been killed by 48 knife wounds.

And who did the killing? Minneapolis police arrested James E. Keen, 19, in a small downtown hotel and Keen admitted the killing. And who was Keen? Was he a Minneapolis gangster? Well, it appears Keen is just a small town boy. His home is in Lynxville, a town of perhaps less than 300 people on the banks of the Mississippi, just 15 miles north of Prairie du Chien.

A good rule for motorists is never pick up a stranger. It may be the death of the driver.

Federal Aid to Education Would Solve All Administrative Problems

BY ROBERT E. WILSON
Associate Professor, Education
Administration, Temple University,
Philadelphia, Pa.

During the current rage over the advisability of federal aid to education there has been overlooked its potential for simplifying the problems of administering public schools. Assuming that the federal government shares the major burden of financing schools in the future, and also shares the concomitant responsibility for operating the schools, by the year A.D. 2000 a superintendent of schools could handle these common administrative problems in the simplified manner in the following manner:

Parent: I want my child's teacher changed.

Superintendent: I only work here; see your senator.

Citizen: My school taxes are too high.

Superintendent: See your congressman; finance bills originate in the lower house.

Teacher: Our arithmetic books are worn out; can we order new ones?

Superintendent: This is election year; no additional expenses this year.

Book Problems

Citizen: Kids are cutting across my lawn on the way home from school and have damaged my petunias.

Superintendent: Don't bother me. File your list of damages with the United States regional court of claims.

Parent New To The District: What school will my child attend?

Superintendent: The U. S. office of education does not distribute its building and pupil allocation until August.

Teacher: When can we start teaching that new unit which we developed for eighth grade history some time ago?

Superintendent: Let's see, we submitted our recommendations for that unit in 1922. They're working on it last I heard.

Janitor: I want a raise.

Superintendent: See your congressman; finance bills originate in the lower house.

Forbidden Pep Rallies

High School Student: But why can't we have a pep rally?

Superintendent: This is an election year; White House directive dated Jan. 4 forbids all rallies that might detract from nominating convention rallies.

Parent: How many days will we get for Christmas vacation this year?

Superintendent: Maybe I don't have to answer that question; did you vote in the last national election?

Parent: That teacher kept my child after school just for throwing a paper wad!

Superintendent: Detention for paper-wad throwing upheld by United States Supreme Court, Althouse vs. Union School District, Ga., 11 T.381, 1976.

Principal: Why didn't I receive my annual supply of writing paper for the third grade?

Superintendent: Congressional budget committee increased military appropriation this year; education budget reduced.

Parent: You're not teaching phonetics like they used to?

Superintendent: USGPO Bulletin No. 98472-Y eliminated phonetics, especially when they occur in words.

See Subcommittee

Parent: How do I get the bus to stop in front of my house?

Superintendent: See senate subcommittee on intrastate communications and transportation.

Board Member: Who got our coal order last year?

Superintendent: I can't re-

100 YEARS AGO
Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for the week of Sept. 1, 1860.

The Paris correspondent of the Allgemeine Zeitung says that the Pope has written a very melancholy letter to the cardinal of France. He looks upon all as lost and, although convinced he will die by the bullet of an assassin, he declares he will not quit Rome under no contingency and for no price.

Advices from Damascus state that Faud Pacha has surrounded Lebanon with troops and has threatened with sword the Druses and Shiaks if they do not surrender. Twenty Shiaks already have been taken. A thousand camels laden with plundered property have been recovered. The Sultan visited the Porte and delivered his speech to the ministers, expressing a resolution to punish the Syrian offenders most severely.

Considerable excitement

exists in Hancock County, Ill., relative to a rumor that the Mormons intend returning and settling in Nauvoo under the head of Prophet Joe Smith. Jr. A mass meeting of citizens was held at Carthage to protest against such a movement. They declared they would not permit them to return and settle in Carthage.

Astrid, 29-year-old queen of the Belgians, was fatally injured when the automobile her husband, King Leopold, was driving, swerved off a country road and hit a tree. The king was only slightly injured.

President Roosevelt signed the Frazier-Lemke 3-year farm mortgage moratorium bill, designed to replace the law declared unconstitutional by the supreme court last spring.

Under the Capitol Dome
Nusbaum Suggestion
Wasn't Unreasonable

BY JOHN WYNGAARD
Madison — Because the name of Joe E. Nusbaum of Gov. Nelson's staff has become a red flag to the Republicans of the state, the Republican campaign managers have rushed into print with a denunciation of a thoughtful warning about the educational and financial implications of the exploding enrollment prospects at state institutions of higher learning.

Philip Kuehn, the Republican candidate, has denounced out of hand the recent suggestion to the state building commission by the department of administration that the enrollment bulge in state colleges and universities requires a fundamental reexamination of policy.

Events may very well show that Mr. Kuehn is given to impulsive conclusions, or that his staff work is faulty.

No one who is familiar with the fiscal implications of the state university and college enrollment picture can seriously deny that they represent the most challenging state problem of the decade.

POOR REPORTING

In this instance Gov. Nelson and his aide have been the victims of some notably careless reporting — and to that extent Kuehn may perhaps be excused. What Nusbaum was asking was not approval of a "proposal," contrary to some of the dispatches.

He did not ask for any arbitrary restrictions upon University of Wisconsin undergraduate enrollment, contrary to the impression many persons have gained.

What he was trying to say is that the enrollment demands of the next decade will require an enormously expensive building program, and that the officials in charge ought to ponder where those new buildings can best be put — considering the interests of the student, his parents, and the public at large.

Perhaps, he said, it would be wise to put the new buildings in the centers of population growth, in the Fox river valley, in the Milwaukee area, in Eau Claire in northwestern Wisconsin, instead of concentrating more of them at the University of Wisconsin at Madison.

It might be less costly for the taxpayers, he suggested, and it surely would be less costly for the students and their parents. Parenthetically he notes something that the university fans hate to have mentioned — that undergraduate instruction in a state college is likely to be equal, or superior, to undergraduate instruction at the University in Madison because non-professional graduate assistants do most of the teaching at Madison, while professional teachers handle most of the classes in the colleges. As the university's per capita costs, including student assessments, tend to increase in the future, a concentration of enrollment at Madison might have the effect of discriminating against the less well-to-do students, Nusbaum also suggested.

THE SHOUTING

It is a little difficult for the sideline to appreciate what all the shouting is about.

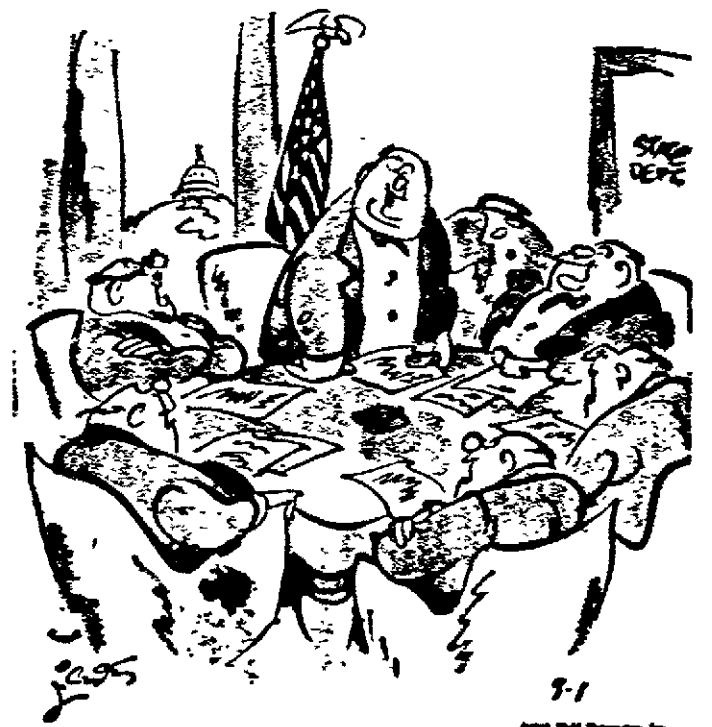

For this suggested blueprint for the future merely extends what has been happening in Wisconsin. As the colleges have been improved in staff and plant, they have grown proportionately faster than has the university. The University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee has matriculated hundreds of students who would not have come to Madison. The university even now is expanding extension centers rapidly, through permanent local facilities, in recognition of the need for decentralization of schooling opportunity.

Is there anything radical about a suggestion that a continuation of this evolutionary trend be studied, and encouraged if the evidence justifies it? The university's anxious protests put it in a decidedly illiberal position.

It is obvious that such discussions are unwelcome to the Madison business community. It is evident that there is a danger of dispersion of football and basketball candidates. There may be other institutional disadvantages. But do they relate to educational objectives, which is what Gov. Nelson and Nusbaum were talking about?

Democrats Hurt By Special Session

Opposing Party Leaders Agree Lack of Unity Was Damaging

BY JACK BELL

Washington — Opposing President Richard M. Nixon, party spokesmen agreed Wednesday the GOP presidential nominee's dog-days session of congress now drawing to a close has been politically damaging to the Democrats.

Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said the session had demonstrated that the Democrats "could develop no cohesive party spirit."

For that reason, he said of a liberal-conservative split among the Democrats, the party Kennedy abandoned plans to presidential nominee, failed to get passage of several bills said Kennedy promised on he wanted and didn't make July 12 to bring before the good on promises to introduce others.

Kennedy has promised to carry his fight to the country.

Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana, the assistant Democratic leader, said in a separate interview that the session "has hurt congress as a whole, but has hurt the Democrats the most."

Two-Thirds Majority

"From the president on down the Republicans have been repeating the argument hourly, on the hour, that the Democrats have a two-thirds majority in the senate and should be able to get what from any lack of effort on the they want," Mansfield said.

"That, of course, is a madding mate, senate majority jority in numbers but not in leader Lyndon B. Johnson of unity. The president himself Texas, that the Democrats has the equivalent of that didn't get the kind of legisla majority in his veto power tive program they wanted.

He must take the responsibility for defeating some measures with veto threats."

Mansfield indicated he thinks President Eisenhower Dirksen credited a new legislative program and demanding quick action on it—which he didn't get.

Tell the People

"But the president should tell the American people that what he advocated in that program not only would have unbalanced the budget for this fiscal year but for many years to come," Mansfield said.

Dirksen said there was no question in his mind that Vice President Richard M. Nixon, the GOP presidential nominee, had benefited politically in the session. Nixon, now hospitalized with an infected knee, has confined himself to giving advice from the sidelines but would be helped to the extent that the Democrats lost ground.

Dirksen said that because of a liberal-conservative split among the Democrats, the party Kennedy abandoned plans to presidential nominee, failed to get passage of several bills said Kennedy promised on he wanted and didn't make July 12 to bring before the good on promises to introduce others.

Khrushchev Raps Nixon, Kennedy

San Antonio, Texas — Presidential candidates Richard M. Nixon and John F. Kennedy are both "lackeys of monopoly capital" and equally undesirable, in the view of Nikita S. Khrushchev.

"They are a pair of boots," the Soviet premier told a luncheon party yesterday. "Which is better, the right boot or the left boot? It would be difficult to distinguish between them."

Khrushchev said the vice president and the Massachusetts senator are trying to outdo each other in their blasts at communism.

"The best period in our relations with the U.S.A. was the period when (Franklin D.) Roosevelt was president and we highly revere his memory," Khrushchev told the gathering.

Belgium Criticized By Hammarskjold

United Nations, N. Y. — Dag Hammarskjold today accused Belgium of failing to meet its troop withdrawal deadline in the Congo and of giving him an inaccurate report on the situation.

The U.N. secretary general advised the security council he had demanded that nearly 600 Belgian troops remaining in the Congo be withdrawn immediately.

Belgium, he said, has assured him it would have all its combat forces out of the troubled African country by last Monday midnight.

The U.N. has taken over the administration of the two Congo military bases at Kamina and Katona and no military or civilian personnel will be permitted to enter the bases except those serving the U.N.

Monkey Being Trained For Space Orbit Test

San Antonio, Texas — A tiny Rhesus monkey is scheduled to take the trip for ejecting a capsule containing the monkey. The air force hopes to snare the capsule with a trapeze-like device swung from a C-119 transport over the Pacific.

The monkey is being trained at the Balcones research laboratory at the university.

The satellite will make several trips around the earth before the air force attempts to ejecting a capsule containing the monkey. The air force hopes to snare the capsule with a trapeze-like device swung from a C-119 transport over the Pacific.

Regular Classes to Begin Wednesday, Notes Principal

Kaukauna — Opening of school for Kaukauna High school students will be Tuesday with the orientation program to be completed the first day and regular class schedules to be followed Wednesday.

Students are to bring a school fee of $7 on opening day and were requested to have the right change to facilitate handling by the school office, according to Walter Schmidt, principal.

Freshmen will assemble at the school gym at 8:10 a. m. and will spend the greater share of the day learning school traffic patterns, location of classrooms and class sequence. Luncheon will be provided freshmen at noon. Upper classmen will report at 12:50 p. m. Tuesday with sophomores and juniors meeting in the gym and seniors in the school lunch room. Rural tuition students are to check with Elwood Kobussen, operator of school buses, regarding bus schedules, according to Schmidt.

Two Jail Cells Are Available, But No Takers

Detroit — What does a guy do with jail cells if he doesn't happen to be in the police business?

A suburban Inkster bus driver would like to find out — it may help him get rid of two 5 by 6 by 6 cells. Ray Sepell bought the old Inkster police station and justice court a month ago for expansion of his wholesale meat and locker business. With the deal came the two cells.

Seeing "no practical use for them in my business," Sepell tried to give them back to the city. "No sale—the authorities said they had modern built-in cells in their new building."

Neighboring communities had no use for them either. The Detroit zoo said all their cages had to be built to certain specifications.

Places Ad An ad in a Detroit newspaper told readers Sepell had "two cells, good for a large dog, pet bear, unruly child or even a bad husband."

A rabbit breeder thought the openings between the bars too close. Sepell turned down an offer by a woman who wondered if it were strong enough to hold her 5-year-old child. One live one—a Great Dane dog breeder—promised to drop by but didn't.

Sepell is confident he will get rid of his cells. "Certainly someone somewhere—maybe an ex-convict who misses that confined feeling—will be interested," he said.

Looking into the dimly-lit chicken house, he saw something crawling on all fours and fired a lot of buckshot. It was Alex. He's recovering in the local hospital — in a non-sitting position.

Lakeview School Changes Bus Plan

Collection System Adopted to Eliminate Need for Extra Vehicle; Routes Set

Neenah — Because of an expected increase in enrollment, bus routes have been revised and the collection point system adopted for pupils of the Lakeview school serving the towns of Neenah and Vinland.

A half-day class session will be conducted Tuesday for all students including the kindergarten. There will be no lunch served at noon on that day. The collection point plan for the bus routes has been adopted in order to cut down on the number of stops that a bus will have to make each day. Without the system, the school district would have had to purchase another bus and hire another driver.

Trip at Noon
 Under the new plan, there will be two buses leaving the school at 8 a.m., two more going out at 8:30 a.m. and another going out at 8:45 a.m. In addition there will be a return trip at noon for milk served in the afternoon with half-day kindergarten pupils and a pickup for those coming to the afternoon session.

Bus No. 1 on the 8 a.m. route will make stops at the following homes and corners: Earl Krause, Highway 41 and Harrison street, Kostrazaks, Highway 41 and county trunk G. Kuehn farm, Huycke, Neenah, Hughes farm and the Joseph Cowling farm.

Bus No. 2 on the 8 a.m. route will stop at Paynes Point (east), Strand, Paulsons, Bouchers, Steubers, Baumans, Grover Cowlings and the Old Glory farm.

On the second route at 8:30 a.m. the first bus will stop at Kuehns, Paynes Point (west), Norman Fredricks, Rawsons, Rickers Bay, Adella Beach (Burgers), Ryans, Poplar court, and Lashuas.

Second Bus
 The second bus on the 8:30 a.m. route will make stops at Howmans, Williams (Villa drive), Sunrise Bay and Bayview road, the corner of Cecil street and S. Park drive, Panseys, Regans, the corner of Peckham and Commercial streets and the Wilms farm.

Stops on the third route at 8:45 a.m. are Plummer's harbor and Rainbow beach. The morning kindergarten class will consist of children living north and east of the school. They will be picked up on the regular morning bus runs and back home delivery will start at 11:25 a.m. These buses will stop at Poplar court, Lashuas, Villa drive, Rainbow beach, Ecksteins, Dennees

Helen Farnsworth Mears' Work To be Shown at Paine Center

BY PHYLLIS MONG
 Oshkosh — Helen Farnsworth Mears is a magical name to Wisconsin art lovers. They know most of the story of her life — enough to know that her artistic genius burned only briefly and that she was not honored in life as much as in death.

Opening at the Paine Art center in Oshkosh today is a memorial exhibit of her work. Fourteen pieces of her sculpture are being shown along with a collection of 11 hunting prints from the Paine collection by American lithographer Arthur B. Frost.

Helen Farnsworth Mears was born in Oshkosh, Dec. 21, 1872, and at an early age used bread dough to model figures until her father procured clay for her to use. He also fashioned modeling tools, many of which she preferred to professional tools.

At the age of nine she modeled a bust of Apollo which won a prize at the county fair and gained her first newspaper publicity.

When she was 14 the untimely young sculptress turned out a figure she called "Repentance," a photograph of which was sent to Augustus Saint Gaudens, a famous American sculptor, who offered his studio to the girl if she should come to New York to work.

'Genius of Wisconsin'
 Commissioned to make a figure representative of Wisconsin at the World's Columbian exposition at Chicago in 1893, she designed the "Genius of Wisconsin," a plaster model of which is included in the Paine show. The eagle in the woman's upraised hand is presumed to be "Old Abe," the famed Civil war mascot.

It is said that, ignorant of the methods of sculptors, Miss Mears did not avail herself of the services of a modeler, but cast the figure herself, with the aid of a young Italian boy. Work on the "Genius of Wisconsin" was done in Chicago and she found time to study under another famous American sculptor, Lorado Taft, at the Chicago Art Institute.

The $500 prize from the Milwaukee Women's club for "Genius of Wisconsin" enabled her to accept Saint Gaudens' offer to study with him in New York. Her patroness, Miss Alice Chapman of Milwaukee, later made possible several years of travel and study in Paris and Italy. Upon her return to New York she set up her own studio where she and her sister Mary ry, her constant companion, lived and worked. Helen was commissioned to make the statue on top of the Wisconsin capitol dome, but politics caused the project to be awarded to another sculptor. Disappointment over the loss of the chance is said to have hastened her untimely death from a heart attack at the age of 44. Friends of the two girls suggested that undernourishment may have been a contributing factor to Helen's death because the two sisters were often in need of help but were too proud to ask.

Services for Helen Mears were held in her studio in the midst of her unfinished work and masses of flowers sent by artist friends. Her ashes were interred in Riverside cemetery in Oshkosh, but the grave was not marked until the Junior Historical society chapter from the Campus school placed a granite headstone on her grave in June, 1957.

Mary Mears attempted to have many of her sister's works cast in metal, but was not always successful and many of the plaster molds and models have been lost or destroyed.

Works by Helen Mears are housed in many museums and institutions around the country. The original of the bas relief of her good friend, composer Edward MacDowell, is in the Metropolitan museum in New York. Replicas of her bas reliefs of MacDowell, Saint Gaudens and her mother, Elizabeth Farnsworth Mears, from the Paine collection will be on exhibit.

A statue of Frances Willard is in the Capitol in Washington and other Mears sculptures are in the Brooklyn Museum of Art, the Peabody institute in Baltimore, the Alice Chapman Memorial library at Milwaukee Downer college, and in the Wisconsin State Historical society.

A bronze bust of George S. Albee, first president of the school, has been borrowed from Wisconsin State college in Oshkosh for the month-long show. The original was destroyed in a fire which leveled the college building in 1916.

The statue "Dawn and Lament" and a bas relief of a small boy have been borrowed from the Oshkosh Public museum. Copies of "Dawn and Labor" also are displayed at the Oshkosh High school and the Twentieth Century club in Oshkosh.

'Fountain of Joy'
 Also borrowed from the museum is the central figure of the "Fountain of Joy," a joyful little-boy figure of the god Pan with his pipe. The complete fountain, with rabbits scampering around the rim, is on a Green Bay playground. A cast of one of the rabbits is also on display.

Included also in the exhibit are four plaques, "Summer, Fall, Winter, and Spring," which were cast last year from molds in the Paine Art center's possession. Eau Claire also has a memorial fountain to Adin Randall, the city's first mayor. A bust of George Rogers Clark is in the Milwaukee Public library.

Each year the Federation of Women's clubs sponsors a contest for eighth grade young artists.

Chivalry in Campaigns Seems Dead

Opponents of Sick Candidates Used to Cancel Engagements

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington — Maybe the "age of chivalry" in national politics has passed. Time was when a presidential candidate canceled speaking engagements when his opponent was incapacitated.

A dramatic example occurred 48 years ago.

When Gov. Woodrow Wilson of New Jersey was running for the presidency on the Democratic ticket against Theodore Roosevelt, progressive Republican, and President William Howard Taft, regular Republican.

An assassin's bullet wounded Mr. Roosevelt on the right side of his body and he was hospitalized for a brief period.

Mr. Wilson promptly announced that he would cancel all speaking engagements. He said:

"Mr. Taft has at no time taken an active part in the campaign, and I have no desire to be the single candidate on the stump engaged against an active antagonist."

The shooting episode occurred in Milwaukee on Monday, Oct. 14, and on Tuesday Governor Wilson said he would keep only the speaking engagements that had already been arranged for Wednesday and Friday of that week and would not speak again afterwards until Mr. Roosevelt was able to take an active part in the campaign.

Big meetings in New York and Brooklyn for that week end were given up by Mr. Wilson.

Resumed Speeches
Mr. Roosevelt appreciated the action but insisted that no Mr. Wilson continue speaking.

Actually, "T. R." resumed campaigning Oct. 30 with the speech at Madison Square Garden. So the recess lasted about 13 days — very important days, too, since they were in the latter part of the campaign, with the election taking place on Nov. 5.

Mr. Wilson's attitude was regarded as sportsmanlike and gallant.

There has always been, however, some question as to whether or not this was a whether lengthy and continuous campaigning is ever as important as the candidates and their managers think it is. President Franklin D. Roosevelt in 1936 and 1940 and 1944 followed the strategy of letting his opponent in each campaign do the bulk of the stumping while he himself concentrated on rebuttals in the last two or three weeks before election day.

Doubts as to the value of stump-speaking have arisen from time to time. For instance, in 1920 Gov. James M. Cox of Ohio, Democrat, toured the country from coast to coast while his opponent, Senator Warren G. Harding, stayed almost the entire time on the front porch of his home in Marion, Ohio, making a few speeches there.

Senator Harding won the presidency by the biggest electoral vote anybody had ever attained up to that time. The people voted primarily against the party in power, irrespective of the eloquent and thoughtful speeches of Gov. Cox.

Defeated 3 Times
William Jennings Bryan, Democrat, was one of the most colorful orators in American politics. He was defeated for the presidency three times — in 1896 and 1900 and 1908. In each campaign his opponent made fewer speeches than he did and took fewer trips, but won anyway.

Maybe Vice President Nixon, now hospitalized with an injured knee, will benefit by a 2-week recess in the stump-ing excursion. Maybe Senator Kennedy would also benefit if he took a rest for the next fortnight, though he has just announced that he will begin an 18-day speaking tour in 17 states Friday.

In these days of television and radio, there isn't as much need for the candidates to take extensive campaign trips engagements that had already been arranged for Wednesday and Friday of that week and would not speak again afterwards until Mr. Roosevelt was able to take an active part in the campaign.

Impression Decisive
The way a candidate looks and his speaking manner may seem to be important but no body has ever proved that they really are. It is rather the impression created by the speech at Madison Square Garden. So the recess lasted about 13 days — very important days, too, since they were in the latter part of the campaign, with the election taking place on Nov. 5.

Mr. Wilson's attitude was regarded as sportsmanlike and gallant.

There has always been, however, some question as to whether or not this was a whether lengthy and continuous campaigning is ever as important as the candidates and their managers think it is. President Franklin D. Roosevelt in 1936 and 1940 and 1944 followed the strategy of letting his opponent in each campaign do the bulk of the stumping while he himself concentrated on rebuttals in the last two or three weeks before election day.

Doubts as to the value of stump-speaking have arisen from time to time. For instance, in 1920 Gov. James M. Cox of Ohio, Democrat, toured the country from coast to coast while his opponent, Senator Warren G. Harding, stayed almost the entire time on the front porch of his home in Marion, Ohio, making a few speeches there.

Senator Harding won the presidency by the biggest electoral vote anybody had ever attained up to that time. The people voted primarily against the party in power, irrespective of the eloquent and thoughtful speeches of Gov. Cox.

Water Can't be Fattening, It Contains No Calories

By Joseph G. Molner, M. D.

"Dear Dr. Molner: Almost every diet tells us to drink lots of water, seven to eight glasses a day. Now others tell me water is fattening. I don't know what to believe. — G. M."

If you weighed yourself again right away, you'd weigh one pound more. But it wouldn't be flesh, or fat. It would just be water. One day later, other things being equal, you'd be back to normal weight.

In short, water has no calories. It is not fattening. If you drink a normal amount of water, that's fine. If you drink more than you need, you'll sweat it off or otherwise get rid of the excess. If you drink less water than you should, your body will hang onto as much as it can.

For all practical purposes, drink as much water as you want, and it won't make you fat. (But if you drink pop, or have sugar in your tea or coffee, or drink other liquids which have food value, ranging from soup to beer, you'll add calories and hence gain weight.)

Several Questions
"Dear Dr. Molner: If you drink a martini before dinner does it add calories? Are birthmarks hereditary? Can a child choke if you give him a spoonful of honey? — L.L."

What a collection of questions! A martini can increase your appetite and add calories to your diet. No, birthmarks are not inherited. No, I can't see why honey should cause anyone to choke.

Cannot Recur
"Dear Dr. Molner: Twenty years ago in high school I suffered an attack of yellow jaundice. I have been told now that I cannot give blood, that I still carry a germ. Do you think the disease could recur? — Mrs. J.W."

You probably had infectious hepatitis—that is, a virus attacking the liver. The jaundice or yellowing of the skin at the time was a symptom, rather than being the disease itself. (We've learned a lot in recent years that we didn't understand before.)

Anyway, the hepatitis will not recur, but some traces of the virus lurk in the body for a long time. That is why you cannot be a blood donor. You don't want to pass the virus along (in the blood) to anyone else, even though you yourself have overcome it.

Cystic Fibrosis
"Dear Dr. Molner: What about a mild (or border line) case of cystic fibrosis? What is the child's future? She is seven years old — Mr. and Mrs. W. S."

Cystic fibrosis, although it must have existed before, was recognized only about 20 years ago. For a time, then, we believed that it was always fatal in childhood or infancy. Now we have some reason to think that we were recognizing only the very severe cases, and

ers. The speeches of the next two months may not materially affect the result. (Copyright, 1960)

Mum Greenhouses
Oshkosh — Commercial florists of the Fox river valley will tour three chrysanthemum greenhouses Monday, Sept. 26.
Stops will be at 2 p.m. at Hantz's Floral company, Fond du Lac; Hrnak's Flowerland, Oshkosh; and Kramer's Floral company, Neenah, where the evening meal will be served.
Ed Vaughan, Chicago, will speak. The program is being arranged by Louis Berninger, University of Wisconsin extension floriculturist.

DHIA Plans Annual Meeting Oct. 5

Oshkosh — Winnebago County Dairy Herd Improvement association members have been notified of the annual business meeting and program Oct. 5.
The meeting will be in Oshkosh at a still - unselected place, according to Pres. Bob Caldwell, town of Black Wolf. More than 10,000 cows in 387 herds are in the county DHIA program.

that mild cases might go on for years and years.

Relatively, the disease is new to us. We still don't know nearly enough about it. It is an uncharted problem. Therefore I cannot answer your question. I do not know what the child's future will be. The chances are that even a mild case will be a very difficult one to care for.

Grits Teeth
"Dear Dr. Molner: I don't know if it's common, but why do people grit their teeth? Our daughter's husband grits his teeth so badly that it keeps her awake. — Mrs. W.M."

Some reasons are (1) improper "bite" or meeting of the teeth, which should be checked by your dentist; and (2) a habit arising from nervous tension. Tense people often suffer from an involuntary tensing of the jaw and facial muscles. In the latter case, if you've ruled out the first one, a sedative sometimes serves to relax the victim so he can sleep without the tension. And the secondary victim — your daughter, who hears him grind his teeth — also gets more rest. By the way, is she so tense and nervous that small sounds bother her? Maybe she needs some attention from the doctor to relax her tension, too. It's not unusual for like to marry like — a tense person marries a tense, nervous one.

If troubled with fissures, fistulas, itching and other rectal problems, write to Dr. Molner in care of this newspaper requesting a copy of my booklet, "The Real Cure For Hemorrhoids," enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover handling.

Taxes Take 10 Cents Out of Each Dollar Spent by K-C

Neenah — Taxes took practically 10 cents of each dollar up to $100 million.

Taking those three major items leaves just about 10 cents in each dollar spent. Three cents of that dollar goes to reinvestment from the depreciation, 3.9 cents in dividends to shareholders and 3.8 cents in reinvestment from earnings.

When all expenses were added, the payments came to $407,092,444. All but about $33 million came from sales of 18,455 employees and 21,200 Kimberly - Clark products and shareholders. Dividing the balance was from dividends of associated companies, net income, miscellaneous net income, investment of $15,035 for each employee.

At the end of its last fiscal year Kimberly - Clark had passed the $100 million mark and accounted for 26.8 cents of each dollar spent. The wages, salaries and benefits to employees, including the pension fund, group insurance, hospital

Words often misused: Do not say, "Why are you so mean today?" The primary meaning of "mean" is common or humble. Say, "Why are you so DISAGREEABLE, or ILL-TEMPERED, or UN-

ACCOMMODATING, or DISOBLIGING?"

Often mispronounced: Manganeese. Pronounce mang-gah-neez, with accent on LAST syllable, not on the first syllable.

Often misspelled: Per cent (two words). Percentage (one word).

Word study: "Use a word three times and it is yours." Let us increase our vocabulary by mastering one word each day.

Today's word: vesture; dress; apparel "Her vesture attracted the eyes of everyone she met."

Second Round Tests Carded in Twin Cities

Banta's Faces Wertsch's of Oshkosh in 1st
Game Friday; 2 Set Saturday Afternoon

Menasha — The Twin Cities Labor day softball tournament, which last week produced both sparkling pitching performances and lusty hitting, resumes at Jefferson park Friday night with three games, on the docket.

Four Twin City teams are still in contention. They are Banta's, Gilbert Paper and Lakeview, winners in first round games, and Jitter and Joe's, which drew a double bye into the quarter finals.

Banta's will face tournament favorite Wertsch's of Oshkosh in Friday's 6:30 game. The Twin City Industrial league entry beat Gay Spot of Appleton 9-3 in its first start while Wertsch's disposed of Pond's 6-0. The loss was only Pond's second of the year.

Green Bay Floral and Loms Bar of the same city clash in the second contest. Their game was rained out in the second inning last Sunday night with no score.

Mayasich Huris John Mayasich, Green Bay Bobcat hockey coach star of the United States Olympic team, is the Green Bay Floral pitcher and the first baseman is Dick Deschaine, former punter for the Green Bay Packers and Cleveland Browns.

Lakeview of the Industrial league and Wisco Bar of Two Rivers are matched in the third game. The former beat Swan Club of De Pere 5-2 and Wisco-blanked Blue Ribbon of Menasha 2-0. This match also was rained out Sunday night.

Finals Sunday

Two games, originally scheduled for Friday night but pushed out of the picture because of the makeup game, are carded for Saturday afternoon instead.

Bleier's of Appleton and Guenther's of Fond du Lac will be the participants in the 3 p.m. fray and Gilbert paper opposes Riverside paper of Appleton in a 4:30 p.m. tussle.

No dates have been definitely announced for the second round game scheduled for Friday night which have to be shifted because of the makeup.

They involve Gilbert's and Appleton Riverside Paper and Appleton Bleier's and Fond du Lac Guenther's. One game may be played Friday night but the chances are that both will be rescheduled for Saturday afternoon.

Three more games are slated for Saturday night. The semi-finals will be played Sunday afternoon and championship game Sunday night if there are no more rainouts. Although Labor day is still open, tournament officials hope to avoid playing then because of conflicts with other activities.

Publishers Try to Clinch League Crown

Face Bergstrom's
Needing One Win
To Spear Honors

Menasha — Banta's will attempt to spear second half honors in the Twin City Industrial league's National division when it plays Bergstrom Paper at 6:30 p.m. today at Jefferson park.

Banta's has a 7-0 record with just two games remaining on its schedule. Every other league team has at least two setbacks. Bergstrom's owns a 1-7 league mark.

Although the American division leader, unbeaten Gilbert Paper, doesn't play tonight, it also could share league honors should Strange Paper lose to Wooden Ware in their 8 p.m. game at Jefferson park.

Gilbert's has a 7-0 record while Strange's is the only club with less than three losses. It has two and would be knocked out of contention by a loss tonight.

American division leader Gilbert paper already has clinched its championship. It has a 7-0 record with just one game left to play. Every other team in the division has at least two reverses.

The only American section encounter on tonight's schedule sends Strange Paper against Wooden Ware at 8 p.m. at Jefferson park.

Soo Line and Tissue Mills originally were scheduled to play the second game at Jefferson but the Railroaders get a forfeit win because Tissue Mills has been dropped from the league.

Lakeview and the Marathon Packers meet in a makeup at 6:30 p.m. at the Recreation field while Neenah Foundry and Main Office clash in the 8 p.m. fray.

Note Increase In Complaints On Assessments

Nine taxpayers appeared before Appleton's board of review in the first 21 days of its session to complain about property assessments.

Last year only two appeared during the entire 5-day session.

More complaints are being received this year, board members say, because of increased valuation placed on real estate and personal property.

The city's total valuation for tax purposes now is $124,473,375, a jump of $8,818,450 from 1959. This year's valuation will be revised, based on reductions made by the review board.

Four reductions have been allowed by the board this far, all for small amounts.

The board will complete its 5-day session Friday. Hours when objectors may appear are from 10 a.m. to noon and 2 to 4 p.m.

Advertising Ideas May Help Teachers

Seeing a distinct relationship between communicating a sales message in advertising and communicating knowledge in teaching, the man responsible for advertising Kleenex and Delsey paper products explained the principles he uses to a group of teachers today.

Harry Sheerin, household products manager of the consumer products division of Kimberly-Clark corporation, told a conference of vocational school homemaking teachers that demonstration was their cardinal characteristic of a good advertising message and suggested that it also is necessary to good teaching.

Endorsement of products by stars is effective in advertising, he went on, and stars giving oneself when selling may be equated to teachers. "Teachers should endorse their subject matter by showing interest in it themselves," Sheerin indicated that drawing out the customer or teachers could benefit from student.

Child Receives Head Cuts While Playing

Kevin Dolan, 3-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Dolan, 400 S. Lee street, received head cuts while playing with neighbor children Wednesday evening.

He was taken to the hospital by Larry's Ambulance Service, treated and sent home. The boy was playing in a sand box when the injury occurred. His parents said they do not know the cause.

He hints his company gives to its salesmen and listed some of them. The most important of these, he felt, is giving oneself when selling. Others include being responsive to the customer's or student's emotions, presenting one idea at a time and drawing out the customer or student.

Political Activity Called Labor's Big Job

Speaker Also Notes Need for More Organizing

Post-Crescent News Service

Green Bay—Activity in the political field is organized labor's "most important job between now and November," John W. Livingston, Washington, D. C., director of organization, AFL-CIO, told state convention delegates at the arena Wednesday.

He said employers have a lot of generals in the election campaign. "There is General Mills, General Motors, General Electric, General Foods and even General Eisenhower." At the end of the speech, George Haberman state AFL-CIO president, told each union man as a "committee of one to go out and get four more votes besides his own."

Livingston said that aside from the immediate election activities the big problem of organizing the unorganized remains. He said there are 18 million organized labor union members in the nation and an additional 27 million eligible for organization.

The unorganized include 14 million blue collar manual workers in offices and six million in the south, he said.

Livingston said that organization is being slowed by the large number of decision reversals since 1953 by the National Labor Relations Board, which he called the "National Labor Reversal Board."

Must Learn

Another speaker this morning was A. G. Goldberg, Milwaukee attorney for the state AFL-CIO. He said "decisions in the last two years revealed the Wisconsin Supreme court has a great deal to learn about the processes of collective bargaining and practical everyday operations of labor unions."

He cited the Door county courthouse addition picketing case of 1958 when the state court upheld an injunction against picketing on the government building project. The United States Supreme court reversed the decision and said that the matter is regulated by federal law and makes no difference if it is a government construction project, Goldberg said.

The case involved halting of work because a non-union plumbing contractor was working on the project.

Haberman said he expects delays increased by this summer's heavy rains and high river flows.

Wisniewski pointed out, "Recreation involves engineering problems which sometimes complicate the task and delay reaching the objective. We have the full cooperation of the great majority of mills, and the people concerned are interested in doing the job right."

Curling Club Plans Cook-Out Tonight

The Appleton Curling club will hold a cook-out from 5:30 p.m. to dark today.

It will be the first outing for members at the site of their river new clubhouse, near the junction of College avenue and Highway 41.

Mills Install New Turbines For Reaeration

Dissolved Oxygen Is Replaced in Wisconsin Rivers

Madison — Equipment for replacing dissolved oxygen in the waters of the Fox and Wisconsin rivers is being installed by pulp and paper mills, state pollution control authorities announced today.

Theodore F. Wisniewski, director, committee on water pollution, reports progress in turbine reaeration has been substantial, with full cooperation from a great majority of the industry.

Just a year ago Wisniewski put the state's weight behind an industry-originated program of turbine reaeration. He requested 21 mills along the two industrial rivers to provide reaeration facilities in order to prevent shortages of dissolved oxygen.

At that time, turbine reaeration already was in use at four out of five strategic sites on the Fox and at five out of sixteen such sites on the Wisconsin.

Capacity Expanded During the summer of 1960 turbine reaeration has been experimentally installed at DePere, the fifth strategic site on the Fox. Meanwhile all four of the mills previously operating aerated turbines have substantially expanded the capacity of their equipment.

On the Wisconsin river, there are now six installations. At five other sites, reaeration equipment is either being tested or actually installed. Three of last year's installations are expanding their capacity. Practically all of the other Wisconsin river mills are actively working on plans for experimental reaeration in the near future.

"This substantial progress has been achieved in spite of installation and construction delays increased by this summer's heavy rains and high river flows," Wisniewski pointed out. "Recreation involves engineering problems which sometimes complicate the task and delay reaching the objective. We have the full cooperation of the great majority of mills, and the people concerned are interested in doing the job right."

Present Installations

Mills with reaeration turbines and grinders on the Fox river are Kimberly-Clark Corporation, Kimberly, Thilth of College avenue and many Pulp and Paper Company jointly working with the city of Kaukauna Utility and Green Bay and Mississippi Canal company; Combined Locks Paper company; and Charmin Paper Products Company, Little Rapids. Experimental installations have been made this summer at DePere by Nicolet Paper Corporation and Beemster Electric Company.

On the Wisconsin River, mills using reaeration turbines are Rhinelander Paper Company working with Wisconsin Public Service corporation, Hat Rapids; Marathon Division of American Can Company, Rothschild; France. Consolidated Water Power and Paper Company, Biron and Wisconsin Rapids; and Nekoosa-Edwards Paper Company, Centralia and Port Edwards.

Mills testing or installing equipment include Tomahawk Pulp Company, King's Dam; Owens - Illinois Division, Grandmother Dam; Consolidated and Whiting - Plover Paper Company. Stevens Point; Nekoosa-Edwards, Nekoosa.

Ming's Works Played in Paris

Lawrence Teacher Studying Music At Fontainebleau

Four compositions by Professor James Ming of the Lawrence conservatory were performed this summer in the Jeu de Paume of the Palais de Fontainebleau near Paris, France.

Ming has been a student in composition with the world-famed teacher Nadia Boulanger during the summer and will continue his study in Paris until January while on leave of absence from Lawrence.

Three of Ming's songs, given their premiers in Appleton several years ago, were sung on Aug. 6 by Jane Schleicher, New York soprano, with the composed at the piano. They are "Absentee," "Song," and "Moo," and were sung by Isabelle McClug in a Lawrence recital.

"Music for Fontainebleau," scored for flute, clarinet, oboe, two trombones and string quartet, was conducted by Professor Ming on a composer's concert on Aug. 24.

During the summer Ming has attended master classes given by pianists Clifford Curzon and Robert Casadesu, S. Memorial drive, was fined composer Jean Francaix, or $150 this morning by Acting Municipal Judge Stanley A. Staidl after trial on a charge of drunken driving.

Heiman was arrested by Appleton police Aug. 5 after his car collided with another in the alley south of W. College avenue near State street. During the summer, Mrs. Heiman also paid $35.60 court costs. His driver's license will be revoked for a year.

He was notified of his election Wednesday. He had been a director of the group, which is devoted to improvement of the end state appeals court process of his present term in 1962

Scientists Set Trap for 'Greased Pig'

BY ALTON BLAKESLEE

Rochester, N. Y. — Scientists are setting a new trap for the Olympic greased pig of all the universe—the neutrino.

The neutrino is one of the 30 known particles involved in the nuclei or hearts of atoms. Its existence was proposed almost 30 years before it was ever actually detected. This happened just recently, through brilliant circumstantial detective work.

Now, as to why it is so elusive.

It has no weight, or mass. It is electrically neutral. It travels at the speed of light.

Every split second, 100 neutrinos pass clear through every square inch of your body and every square inch of earth, without ever hitting anything.

Come From Sun

Neutrinos come flying from the sun and account for 6 to 8 percent of all the energy released by the sun. In energy orders.

this flow of neutrinos is estimated 40,000 times greater than the energy of moonlight. Neutrinos are practically so non-existent that they rarely hit anything.

New Trap

The new trap for neutrinos is being set up alongside the powerful 29 billion electron volt atom smasher in Geneva, Switzerland, operated by the 12 nation European Organization for Nuclear Research.

CERN can produce a rich river of neutrinos, one thousand billion at a time in quick pulses, coming from smashed atoms. The neutrinos then will fly through heavy lead shielding and a bubble chamber of liquid nitrogen.

Scientists hope their hits on cores of hydrogen can disclose some secrets of what neutrinos really are and what role they play in the nucleus.

Charlie Waxes Nostalgic Over Simple, Good Life of Long Ago

BY CHARLES BOUSE
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Once upon a time — long, long ago — there was a place in the world which was contented with its simple life. When people made a breadbox, it was a very good breadbox and it lasted far, far into the years and finally fell to the use of the grandchildren. If a man made a rocking horse, it would last a hundred years.

People made things by the skill of their hands and the sweat of their brow, and when their day was done they felt sweetly tired with a precious, justified feeling. They did not court their deserved rest with a double martini, for they gave themselves to their labor proudly and wholesomely. Rewards were sweet slumber, a clear conscience and the respect of the people in their world. That was a long time ago. There were no homes for old folks then because it was natural for one's mother and father to live with their children when they grew old and feeble. Nobody thought about "putting them away." Nobody asked about it. It wasn't natural to think that way.

Golden, Rich Milk

And the people drank a simple kind of milk, golden and full with richness and never a tint of blue; and the cream from the milk was yellow-golden yellow, and sometimes it was so thick and so good it had to be ladled; it would not pour.

And in the kitchen—ah, the kitchen—there were cakes and pies and apple strudel, and maple syrup, and homemade bread good enough for a meal in itself.

And there were beautiful homemade pies and cakes—small masterpieces, they were—and they did not come from a package or a can, but from someplace outside, and they tasted good!

Big-bodied soups, there were, too, and they were assembled in some sweet smelling kitchens, and there were homemade biscuits and a hundred savory things that were made by loving hands with pride. And these things were commonplace and accepted and appreciated.

It was a long time ago.

Sweet Smelling Soap

Ladies used sweet smelling soap at five cents a bar instead of perfume at $50 an ounce, and their cheeks were bright with roses in them and their smiles were frequent, inspired by time-honored family jokes and native good humor instead of a strange ob-

People invented their simple pleasures and gave birth to the quilting bee, the home-raising, the church social, the barn dance, the spell-down, the corn roast, the pound party, the country dance for young and old.

People would put their hands in the good earth and it was, somehow, a wonderful feeling. They didn't know about their fingernails. But they raised things that were good to eat, and they liked to do that useful work. It was good to do, and honorable too.

But that was a long time ago.

And they didn't have the pleasures of vacuum-packed, convenient sized, packages of life. It was terrible.

Youth Denies He Gave Minors Beer

Gerald W. Rausch, 18, 729 1/2 Depot street, Little Chute, Wednesday in municipal court denied contributing to the delinquency of three boys, two 16 and one 17, by furnishing them beer April 30 in his Little Chute home. His bond of $125 was set for Sept. 16. Rausch was charged after County Patrolman Calvin Spice took one of the 16-year-olds into custody after the youth stole two cars, wrecked both, and ended in a swamp calling for help. The boy's appearance in juvenile court has been adjourned, pending a hearing on Rausch's case.

Hortonville Discards Tattered Old Volumes

BY BONNIE BARSTOW
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

"You can't throw them away yet; I have to read them first!" exclaimed a Hortonville girl to Mrs. Clara Klein, village librarian. The girl tightly grasped several tattered books of juvenile fiction.

Hortonville's library, unlike most of the county, had more books at the beginning of 1959 than at the year's end. "We cleaned house," Mrs. Klein explained. Some of the books were just too worn out to be repaired, so 218 were discarded during the year, while only 153 new ones were acquired.

This left the year-end inventory at 6,689, according to library records. But Mrs. Klein knows that the actual inventory is not the same as the figures. Since she started as librarian, she has kept track of the number of books gained and lost, but she does not know just how many there were to start with.

Historical Interest

The books are not cataloged, but are arranged by their nature — those for little children, older children, teenage boys and teenage girls; mysteries; westerns; general fiction, arranged alphabetically; classics, arranged by title; and non-fiction, arranged by subject.

Among the library's reference books are several valued mainly for their historical interest—a 1903 edition of the Encyclopedia Britannica, an old, leather-bound history of Outagamie county and an 1893 volume of biographies of Winnebago, Outagamie and Brown county personalities.

The village has a lot on Main street for a new library, but plans are "quite indefinite" now, said Lawrence Moder, library board chairman. C. J. Muntwyler, Chicago, donated the land, and preliminary sketches for the proposed library have been drawn. The new 1-story building is to have a reading room and space for book storage.

Large Corner Room

The present Hortonville library is in a large corner room at the back of the modern village hall. The room has large windows overlooking Black Otter creek just below the dam, and fluorescent lights make most of the room light and pleasant. One exception, however, is the area between the bookshelves along the end wall and parallel to it. Since there is no light on the ceiling above, Mrs. Klein brought a floor lamp from her home to provide illumination for browsers.

The book shelves are of wood, with a slightly rustic look, and some of the old chairs are a bit wobbly.

On one of the library's tables are books that high school students use for their classwork—current and historical biography, illustrated geography books and new reference books.

Center Around Students

Many of the library's services are centered around the students. Its winter hours are from 3 to 8:30 p. m. Tuesdays and from 2 to 5 p. m. Saturdays. During the summer, when there is no school, it opens at 3:30 p. m. Tuesdays because there is no need to open before school buses leave for rural areas.

Juvenile circulation exceeded adult circulation last year by 4,608 to 3,009. Public and parochial teachers borrow packs of books for use in their schools.

The Hortonville library has 531 card holders, 133 of whom are from outside the village limits.

'Yellow Jaundice' Is One Of More Common Diseases

CARL N. NEUPERT, M.D.

Infectious hepatitis is one of our more common contagious diseases.

Better known as "yellow jaundice," it is an infection of the liver, accompanied by a feeling of weariness and fatigue—and sometimes a yellowing of the skin and whites of the eyes.

While most cases are mild, complete recovery from the disease often takes a long time, especially with adults. The usual treatment consists of complete bed rest and a diet of adequate diet, and convalescence may even last as long as several months.

Caused By Virus

Infectious hepatitis is caused by a virus which is spread from person to person by direct contact—much as the common cold. It also may be transmitted through contaminated food and drinking water. This accounts for the fact that the disease is most common among children and young adults. Because symptoms of infectious hepatitis are usually mild and may resemble those of other diseases, it is wise to consult your physician at the first sign of illness.

More important for most of us, however, are ways we can keep from getting the disease in the first place.

Hygiene, Sanitation

One of these is good personal hygiene. Children should be taught, for example, to wash their hands after using the toilet. Another is good community sanitation, with the usual treatment consisting of complete bed rest and a diet of adequate diet, and convalescence may even last as long as several months.

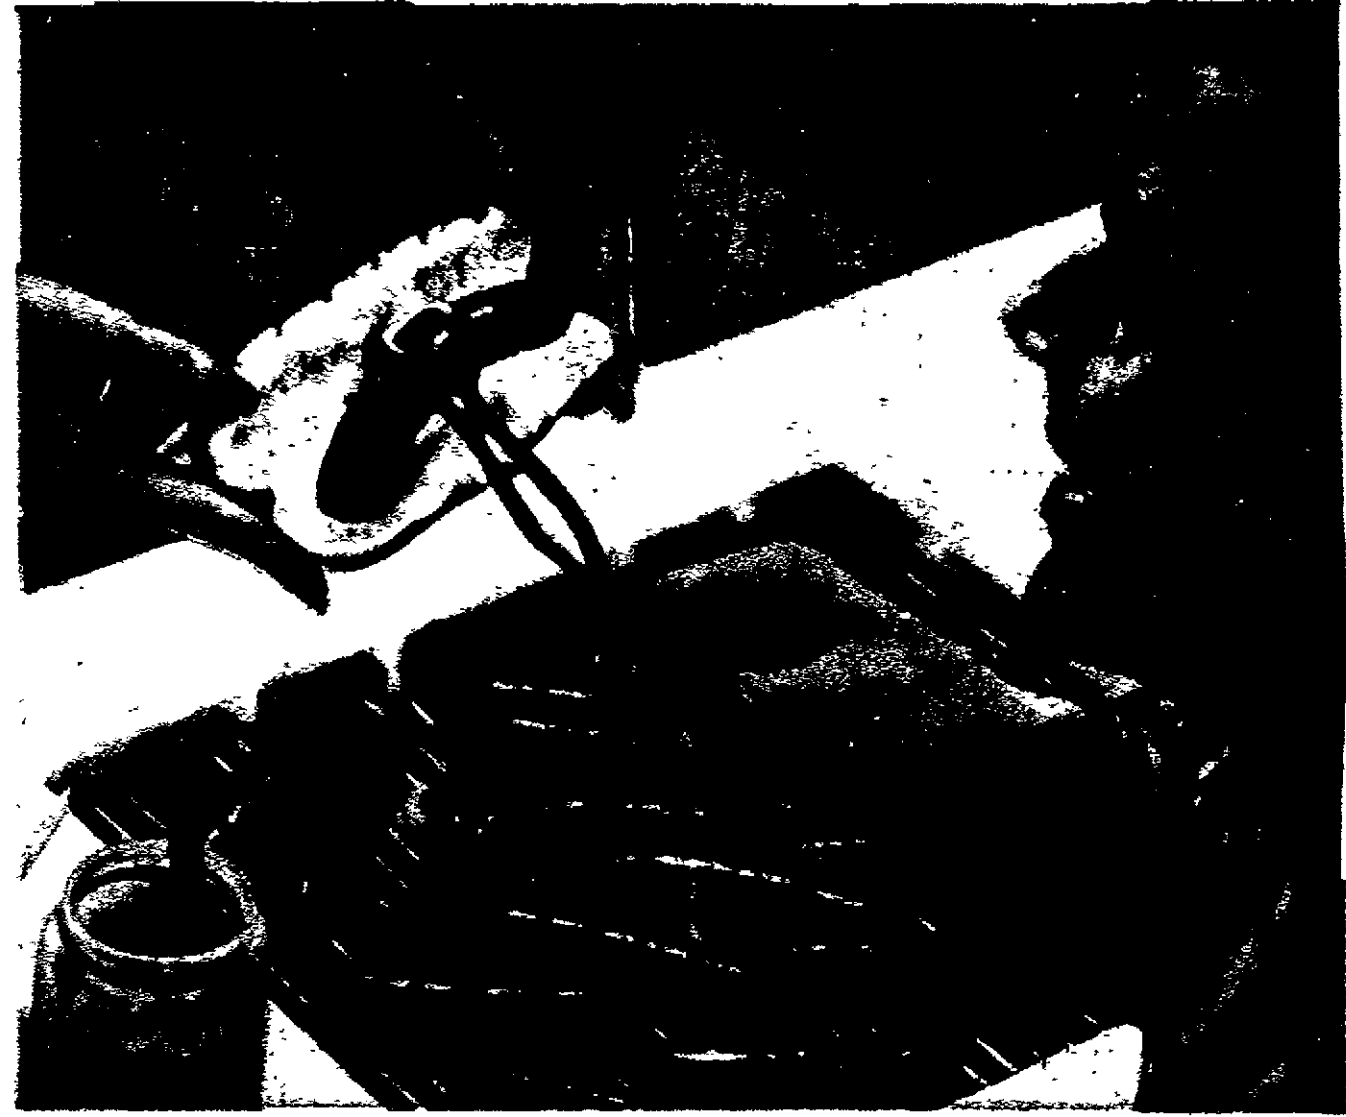

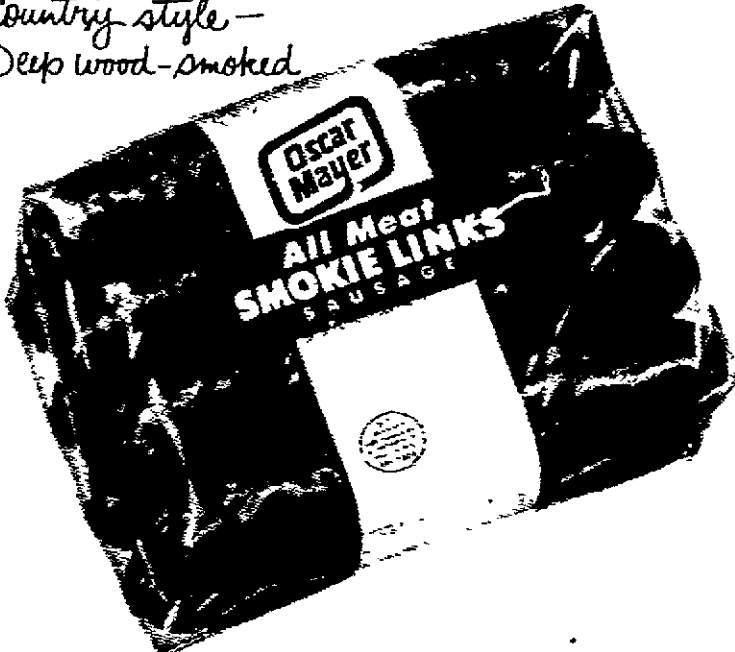

And finally, gamma globulin can be given to help prevent infectious hepatitis after one is exposed to the disease. This is often used effectively to stop epidemics among school children.

Some day infectious hepatitis may be prevented with an effective vaccine. But until the disease is most common among children and young adults, the best ways of coping with this common disease.

Cool Drink Will Save You Calories

Technically, a beanpole is a long thin stick, designed to accommodate growing beans. By extension, it is also a long thin person. A Beanpole Fizzer is a long thin drink, de- signed to accommodate grow- ing boys and girls. Or, if you make it with non-fat dry milk, it will accommodate those who want a tall choco- late drink without too many calories.

The Beanpole Fizzer is, in effect, a chocolate ice cream soda without ice cream. The excellent chocolate flavor can be introduced instantly with powdered chocolate mix, which dissolves immediately in liquid to make good-tast- ing chocolate drinks of all de- scriptions. It also offers good nourishment, as it is fortified with Vitamins C and D3 and iron.

Whole milk or non-fat dry milk — take your choice — gives the Beanpole Fizzer its substance, sparkling water gives it the right to be called a fizzer, and a little honey from Wisconsin adds originality to the flavor.

Assuming you want a bean- pole, or limited calorie, lunch, serve your Beanpole Fizzer with a "separates" salad. Ar- ing from Michigan, and Illi- for longer periods in home nois now shipping. Remember the Gaudy, Gold-Trimmed circus wagons that used to be a colorful part of every street parade? This is one of them, a heavily carved vehicle owned by the Barnum and Bailey and Hutchinson circus in 1881. It's one of the 15 originals on display at the Circus World museum at Baraboo.

Circus World Glamor Captured at Baraboo

State Museum Located at Original Winter Quarters of Ringling Bros.

Sights, sounds and smells of the fast-waning circus world are recaptured for today's generation at the Circus World museum at Baraboo.

Open daily from 9 a. m. to 6 p. m. until Oct. 16, the year-old state museum uses buildings and property that for 34 years were the winter quarters of Ringling Bros. circus. Here, July 1, 1959, the State Historical society opened the museum after years of planning, with the cooperation of state circus fans, the city of Baraboo and its businessmen.

The circus is not new to this city of 7,000. Besides being the birthplace of the Ringling circus, it also fostered the Gollmar Bros. circus. Many residents recall the earlier days when elephants paraded the streets. Each winter the preserve lore and artifacts of this great form of entertainment.

History Comes Alive

Circus history comes alive at the museum. Included in the displays is a colorful array of parade wagons, some of them used as early as 1880. A real circus train, recently purchased by the Ringling Bros., is on display. There is a large array of posters, displaying circus art dating back to 1850. A magnificent miniature of the Ringlings purchased in 1907 and later combined to covers 700 square feet. Probably the world's greatest collection of circus photographs is on display. There also is a full-sized replica of P. T. Barnum's famous museums of the freaks and curiosities of 1880.

To make the exhibits more interesting to children, the museum maintains a menagerie of live animals, offers free circus acts, concerts on

University Throws Curve at Good, Starts Her as Sophomore

Seattle —A— The University of Washington threw a curve at Alexandra Bekati. It enrolled her as a sophomore instead of a freshman.

That gives her less time to find a husband.

Alexandra, daughter of Greek parents in Istanbul, Turkey, has been living with an American aunt and uncle at Elma, Wash. She wants to stay.

So, the pretty 21-year-old explained Tuesday, she needs to find an American husband. And in three years, since the registrar — looking at her grades in an Istanbul school — tossed her that curve.

Speaking of curves, there's one other thing bothering Alexandra: "In Turkey, the men prefer the not very skinny woman. But here they like very skinny."

"So, I have to reduce."

Millie Perkins Turns Down Role, Suspended

Hollywood —A— Actress Millie Perkins has been placed on suspension by 20th Century-Fox studio for refusing a role.

The job: The lead in "Tess of the Storm Country." Miss Perkins' last film role was the lead in "The Diary of Anne Frank."

The studio said the former New York model, now 22, had declined other roles in the two years since "Diary" was made.

the steam calliope and sells cotton candy, pink lemonade and jumbo peanuts.

All Authentic

Every detail is authentic circus, housed in two immense buildings and various large tents.

It was on May 19, 1884, that five young boys named Ringling gave their first circus performance in Baraboo and then set out to take their little show to other towns. Their show grew, switched from wagons to railroad transportation in 1890, and went on to the point when only one other circus gave them competition. This was the Barnum and Bailey circus, which the Ringlings purchased in 1907 and later combined to form the largest circus the world has ever known.

The Gollmars, seeing the success of their Ringling first cousins, tried their hand at the entertainment. They opened in 1891 and before they were through, their railroad car circus was one of the finest in the country.

Both shows left Baraboo as their headquarters about the time of World War I.

Truck Speeding Is Major Highway Patrol Headache

More Complaints Received on It Than Any Other Matter

BY GEORGE SCHULIZ
Post-Crescent News Service

Driving "with one eye on the road and one eye on the mirror" would not be a fair description fitting all over-the-road truck drivers, but its incidence is of sufficient proportion to provoke concern among traffic authorities who are charged with enforcing speed laws.

Truck speeding, in fact — a state traffic sergeant said — is the subject of more complaints to the Wisconsin Motor Vehicle department than any other thing.

It holds a dual interest for most citizens as both motorists and taxpayers. This state's speed limit of 45 miles per hour for large trucks (many will argue that this is too low) is established for the safety of all who use the highways as this is affected by the operational control of the large vehicles. It also is for prolonging the life of highways under heavily weighted pounding of wheels on the pavement.

Pay High Fees

To be sure, truck owners pay plenty to the state for their commercial use of highways — up to $360 for a license and often several thousands of dollars a year in taxes. Highways cost a lot, too, with about $1 million per mile widely used nowadays in figuring the probable amount for laying modern roads. There is a relationship of the speed of a heavy truck with its effect on the pavement. Even with the weight of a truck and its cargo apportioned among its wheels there are usually more pounds riding on one wheel of a truck than the entire weight of a passenger car on all four of its wheels.

Why then, one may ask, is truck speeding a problem if authorities are aware of it and now have more enforcement facilities than ever available to them, and if the maximum allowable speed is clearly defined by law to the drivers?

Officers of the Wisconsin State patrol, one arm of the police community which enforces the regulation, attribute the situation largely to the wariness of the experienced truck driver — that "sixth sense" about the presence of a patrol car on a given stretch of road — coupled with a most effective means of reciprocal communication of this to his fellow truckers on the particular highways.

This known, they hold to the prescribed limit, perhaps only to speed up again when the "danger" of arrest diminishes.

Reports Incident

Dependence upon this method to escape being caught is this instance a patrolman related about stopping two large trucks on Highway 29-32 west of Green Bay during night patrol in an unmarked car recently:

The trucks belonged to the same line and were driving to Green Bay together with cargoes of livestock. The officer first observed them when he met them while traveling in the opposite direction, and then

Census Bureau Can Furnish Proof of Age

The U. S. Bureau of the Census is helping people prove they were born. Last year, 637 Wisconsin residents turned to the census bureau to obtain proof of age or birth.

Such proof is needed to collect social security and other retirement benefits.

Persons seeking such facts about themselves can write to the Personal Census Service branch, Bureau of the Census, Pittsburg, Kan., for a census records search application form.

A fee of $3 is charged for a search of not more than two censuses for one person and for one copy of the information found. Additional copies cost $1 each. An expedited search costs $4. Expedited searches usually are completed within a few days. The routine $3 search may take up to 30 days.

Lion Breaks Partition, Claws Cornel Wilde

Rome — (P) — A lion broke through a glass partition today and clawed American actor Cornel Wilde during a studio set scene in the filming of "Constantine the Great."

Wilde suffered only slight scratches on the elbow and knee. He said he was willing to go on with the scene, but the directors said the lion was not. The animal was cut by glass and excited. The scene was cancelled as too dangerous.

GOP's Kuehn Raps State's Road Progress

Asks Superhighway From Illinois Through Lakeshore, Valley

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

Madison — A new major highway extending from the Illinois line through eastern Wisconsin into the Fox River valley and to Green Bay has been proposed by Philip Kuehn, Republican candidate for governorship, in a program paper outlining what he would ask in the way of highway development if elected.

Kuehn's elaborate treatise on Wisconsin highway problems, evidently prepared in collaboration with persons familiar with current highway use trends, contained a general criticism of the present road development program of the Democratic state administration.

The state has not moved quickly enough to adjust its highway planning and construction to the changing industrial and population picture of Wisconsin, he maintains.

Kuehn said the new road would provide more efficient service through the southern Wisconsin metropolitan region that is swiftly expanding in population, and should extend along the eastern border of the state between Lake Michigan and Lake Winnebago, through the growing Fox valley to terminate at Green Bay.

He suggested other major roads for the state, including improvements of Highways 2 and 8 across the northern end of the state.

Hints from Past

Some of Kuehn's proposals were reminiscent of the requests of Wisconsin highway user groups several years ago when the allotments for the new U. S. Interstate system of roads were being made, and there were complaints that Wisconsin did not get its proportionate or equitable share of the total mileage of the super-roads.

The state got an allocation of about 450 miles, none of it in eastern Wisconsin or the Fox valley, although the Milwaukee expressway system was included.

"There is no doubt that we are building up a huge backlog of highway deficiencies," said the gubernatorial aspirant. "If we fail to meet the problem, we will be enforcing gradual economic stagnation on our state. Good highways are synonymous with a vigorous, growing economy. They are the lifelines of Wisconsin," he said.

Former Outagamie County Employee Seeks Post at Green Bay

Miss Florence V. Bradish, Green Bay, announced Wednesday plans to seek the Democratic nomination for Brown county clerk as a write-in candidate in the Sept. 13 primary.

Miss Bradish formerly worked in the Outagamie county district attorney's office and the agricultural office. She also was an unsuccessful Democratic candidate for clerk of court here, and kind seems to be driving her to seek secretary of the Outagamie county Democratic party.

International Problem

Multiple Registration Vexes English Colleges

The troubles facing American higher education are not peculiar to this country alone. The problem of multiple registration — where a potential college freshman applies at numerous institutions to insure his acceptance by at least one — is vexing registrars in the Wisconsin State college system, as well as those in colleges and universities across the land.

England, too, is beset by this situation and is reacting with concern. An English writer, speaking recently over the British Broadcasting system, said that many English school children were applying at the largest possible number of universities and colleges hoping to be in luck somewhere.

As one boy admitted: "I grammar and high schools applied to 11 universities. I can't remember them."

By the fall, continued the English commentator, boys and girls who have not been accepted will be frantically chasing universities, and universities chasing the cleverest students.

The imbalance in America — where some colleges are besieged by hopeful applicants, often because of the prestige value alone, while at numerous institutions to other institutions are not operating at capacity — is also reflected in the British Isles.

The English student aims at Oxford Cambridge while neglecting excellent provincial institutions because of personal ambition, ignorance about the valuable faculties and facilities at the less prominent schools.

Other English critics have been striking the excessive emphasis upon examinations as a means of classifying the individual, starting down in the kindergartens. They also hold that instructors in the grammar and high schools toward the examinations — to insure that students pass these hurdles — and are thus ignoring other equally, or more important, aspects of the curriculum.

Defeat Reds Before 3,369 Fans While Soos Lose to Cedar Rapids

Foxes Clinch Area's First Modern Pro Baseball Pennant

NOTES and NOTIONS

Hail to the champs! The 1960 Fox Cities Foxes have written a memorable chapter in area sports history. Their smashing victory in the Three-I league pennant race ends a half-century drought hereabouts. White Sox fans had to wait "only" 40 years between pennants, but Fox Cities baseball diehards have been frustrated, title-wise, for 50 — ever since Appleton took the Wisconsin-Illinois league flag in 1910. The 1960 Foxes have brought honor to the Fox Cities and distinction to themselves as well as to the entire Baltimore organization. They've made the name "Fox Cities" synonymous with good baseball throughout the minor league structure and should be a source of pride to every fan from everywhere in the Fox Cities — whether he live in Menasha, Kaukauna, Neenah, Little Chute, Kimberly, Combined Locks or Appleton. While the pennant is a satisfying treat to all levels of fandom, it ranks as a special compensation for the circle of ultra-enthusiasts that backed "modern" pro baseball through thick and thin for 13 previous State league and 3-I league seasons without realizing anything more substantial than third place (and that "lofty" status was attained only in 1941).

One of the most gratifying aspects of the pennant success is that the Three-I league's premier club is young and essentially populated with players who should still go a long way in baseball. Not only are many of the youthful stars potential major leaguers but the manager, Earl Weaver, himself has demonstrated a number of the qualities that could eventually elevate him to the big time. The talent unquestionably is good, it's true, but Weaver handled it astutely and developed it to an even higher degree of efficiency as the season wore on.

Players Think in Terms of Team Success

Weaver also circumvented the potential personality dangers inherent in a club that carries so many "big bonus" youths as the Foxes. He had them all thinking in terms of team success rather than individual glory. And, most important of all, he instilled the victory complex in his players. The fiery skipper loses hard, and he soon had his charges following suit.

The Foxes' roster had excellent balance in terms of experience as well as ability. Teen-aged stalwarts such as "Boog" Powell, Dean Chance, Arne Thorslund, Bob Saverine, Jim Carver and Dick Hunt had the benefit of stability provided by such 23-24 year-olds as Chuck Symeon, Frank Montgomery and "Photi" Anthony. Much like the National League Pirates, the '60 Foxes took turns in playing the heroes' role. Even the two hitters with the lowest averages, Anthony and Charley Johnson, broke up many a ball game with big hits.

Individually, the Foxes who played all or part of the season here deserve our plaudits. Pete Ward, the season-long batting leader for the league as well as the club, of course, has been a tremendous factor in the 1960 success. Powell caught fire after hitting only .224 for the first month to become one of the league's most feared batsmen. And, defensively he did an amazingly good job in his first full season at first base. Anthony, besides being a timely hitter, was the best double-play pivotman in the league. Saverine, who Weaver predicted would be an asset to the club if he hit but .260, has not only hit well above that figure all the way but is a crackjack base runner and dependable shortstop. The clutch-hitting Ripken was a boon to the club whether he was doing his usually fine backstopping job or filling in at some other position. The ever-improving Carver not only raised his average some 50 points since June but became an important spark in the Foxes "battery."

The speedy, hustling Montgomery was poison to opposing pitchers with his ability to get on base. Moving to center field when Ray Youngdahl became incapacitated, "Monty" covered an unusually large slice of real estate for a little guy. Youngdahl himself was an important offensive-defensive cog in the Fox Cities machine before his knee injury. Jack McGowan proved a valuable mid-season outfield replacement.

Nieder Sets Olympic Shot Put Mark; Tobian Leads in Platform Diving Event

Russia Tops Scoring With 164½ Points

Rome — (U-P) Gary Tobian, Uncle Sam's diving ace, moved into the lead with a splendid performance in the semi-finals of the platform event, and Wilma Rudolph of Clarksville, Tenn., led all preliminary qualifiers in the women's 100-meter dash today as the sixth full day of competition got under way in the Olympic games.

It was a day that dawned with bright expectations for the United States in its bid to overhaul Russia in the unofficial team point standings.

Seek Upset

Finals were scheduled in the men's high jump, where John Thomas of Cambridge, Mass., is the world's best, and in the men's 100-meter dash, where Yank speedsters may be ready to pull an upset and retain U.S. supremacy.

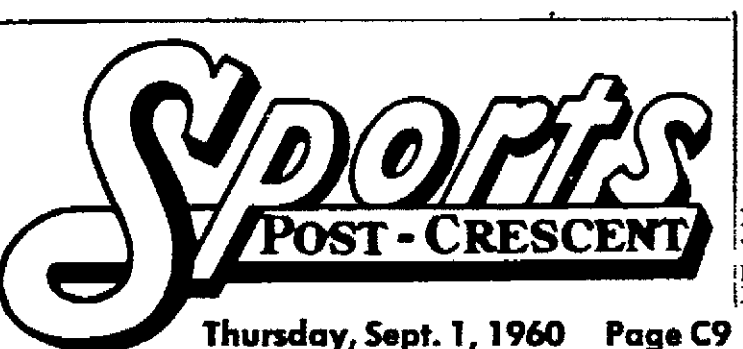

America also looked to add to its total of four gold medals in two swimming finals tonight—the men's 400-meter medley relay, and the women's 400-meter freestyle.

Russia, leading with nine gold medals and 164½ points to America's runner-up 110 points, also had an eye on additional titles, however. The Soviet was favored in two women's track and field events, the 80-meter hurdles, and the javelin.

Tobian, from Glendale, Calif., took charge in the platform diving, as expected, in his quest for a second gold medal. A surprise winner in the springboard event, he moved from fourth place after Wednesday's elimination round, past early leader Brian Phelps of Britain in the three dives of the semi-finals.

Nears Record

Bob Webster of Santa Ana, Calif., ninth Wednesday, is third going into Friday's finals. Phelps took second place over Webster on his final dive. Miss Rudolph won her 100-meter heat in 11.5 seconds, one-tenth of a second off the

Braves Grab Finale From Cubs, 11 to 7, After Losing Opener

Chicago — (U-P) Milwaukee's veteran ace right-hander Lew Burdette made a couple of blows meant runs in the late innings, with the Chicago Cubs Wednesday, but his teammates were equally guilty of misplays and couldn't hit when the world record and, more than that, the satisfaction of proving he really could win the big one.

"After I set the world record of 65 feet and 7 inches in Texas earlier this year, Parry O'Brien made a remark that it didn't bother him, that I was unable to come through

Orioles Slice Yank' Lead To 1 Game

Defeat Cleveland, 6-3, After Athletics Hold New York To Split in Doubleheader

By The Associated Press

The most exciting and perhaps most wonderful week-end in Baltimore's baseball history since Ned Hanlon's Yankees to a split, in an afternoon doubleheader. The Orioles of 1904-6 figures to get away winging Friday night when the youthful Birds engage the league-leading New York Yankees in an all-important 3-game series. A sweep would lift the Orioles into first place in the American league and establish them as the team to beat for the flag.

Baltimore narrowed New York's first-place lead to a single game Wednesday night, beating Cleveland, 6-3, after Kansas City had held the Yankees to a split, in an afternoon doubleheader. The Orioles won the second game, 6-3, after absorbing a 1-0 shutout in the opener.

Washington dropped third-place Chicago four games off the pace with a 2-1 decision. Detroit beat Boston, 4-2.

Hits Grand-Slam

Outfielder Gene Woodling walloped a grand-slam home run for Baltimore off Dick Stigman in the third inning. This offset a 3-0 lead Cleveland had run up against Steve Barber in the first inning.

Right-hander Skinny Brown, took over and pitched eight scoreless relief innings to gain his tenth victory.

Yankee rookie Bill Stafford and A's veteran Ned Garver turned in the shutouts in the New York-Kansas City doubleheader. Stafford permitted four hits in the opener and walked off with his second major league victory on Mickey Mantle's sixth-inning triple that scored Yogi Berra.

Hurts 4-Hitter

Garver also hurled a 4-hitter in the nightcap. Russ Snyder's bases-loaded single off Ralph Terry in the sixth broke up a scoreless duel.

Rookie southpaw Jack Kralick of Washington outpitched right-hander Bob Shaw of the White Sox. The Senators scored the tie-breaking run in the ninth on catcher Earl Battey's sacrifice fly.

Chico Fernandez, whose error in the tenth inning Tuesday night cost Detroit a game in Boston, redeemed himself Wednesday night by driving in two runs, Detroit's margin of victory over the Red Sox.

Blaze Hanover Is Winner of Hambletonian

Captures Record $85,019 First Prize in Classic

Du Quoin, Ill. — (AP) — Blaze Hanover really showed how he could step in the Hambletonian trotting classic for 3-year-olds Wednesday.

Here is how the strapping chestnut son of Hoot Mon took the record $85,019 first prize in the richest harness race in history:

First mile heat—Won by a nose over Elaine Rodney, matching the Hambletonian record of 1:59.45 set by Emily's Pride in 1958.

Second heat—Finished seventh when he clipped the wheel of In Haste at the top of the stretch. Won by Quick Song and driver Frank Ervin in record time of 1:59.35.

Third heat—Finished third as Hoot Frost, piloted by Jim Arthur, also won in 1:59.35.

Fourth heat—Beat Quick Song by a head after leading all the way, with Hoot Frost, third, a length back, in a race-off. The time was 2:10.35 as the three colts sat back, but Blaze covered the last quarter in a sizzling 27.35, then they all let loose.

College '11s' Make Bid For Attention

By The Associated Press

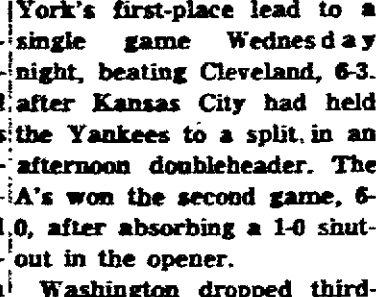

With the pros already playing exhibition games, college football teams made their own bid for attention today as they assemble for their first fall workouts.

The NCAA rules prohibit practice before Sept. 1, although there are a few exceptions. Army and Navy, where classes start early, and Pittsburgh, which operates on a 3-set semester schedule, are among those exempt from the rule.

The coaches have two new rules to which they must become adjusted.

The first figures to help them. Known as the "wild card" rule, it permits the substitution of one player after every play. The second rule further restricts sideline coaching, although the first rule will eliminate that necessity.

Albuquerque, N. M.—Joey Limas, 140, Albuquerque, outpointed Joe Parks, 137, Omaha, 10.

Bill Nieder, Center, U. S. Army lieutenant from Kansas, admires his gold medal after winning the Olympic shot put championship in Rome Wednesday with a toss of 64 feet, 6 and 3/4 inches. Nieder smashed the Olympic record. Winner of the silver second place medal is Parry O'Brien, right, who tossed the ball 62 feet 8 and 3/4 inches. Making it a clean sweep for the U. Welcomes Low Ratings Bruhn Feels UW's Soph-Studded Cast Will Do 'All Right' This Year

By HARVEY BEEUSCHER

Madison — (AP) — Gone are most of the hefty linemen and seasoned backs that powered Wisconsin to a Big Ten conference football title last year.

In their place Wednesday, Coach Milt Bruhn exhibited a sophomore-studded cast of players for newspaper and television cameramen covering the official opening of the Badgers' 1960 grid season.

"Those ratings aren't going to hurt us at all," Bruhn said in commenting on the lowly perch most of the pollsters have selected for his charges this year.

There's no serious talk about repeating as champions, but Bruhn isn't convinced he'll have to accept something much short of that.

"Sure we lost a lot of experience, but I think we've gained some speed," he said. "I'm not going to predict how many games we'll win. Who can? We're just going to take them one at a time and I think we'll do all right."

Temperature is 90

Bruhn's optimism was reflected in the perspiring faces of 71 hopefuls who donned Wisconsin's traditional red and white game uniforms, while a bright August sun boosted temperatures to 90 degrees on the field at Camp Randall stadium.

There was no wilting of spirit, despite the heat.

"These are the guys from up in the north country where they hunt bear with switches," Bruhn joked to a photographer taking pictures of a group of northern Wisconsin candidates. "Hope they're as handy at football."

"Careful, don't lose any of that weight in the hot sun," a member of Bruhn's staff shouted, spotting a group of linemen leisurely waiting their turn before the cameras.

The Rose bowl defeat that blackened Wisconsin's otherwise bright record last season wasn't even mentioned in whispers.

With only nine returning lettermen, Wisconsin has a massive rebuilding job to do. But Bruhn has traveled that road before and appears almost eager to repeat the trip.

In 1957, the ex-Minnesota lineman took a squad dominated by underclassmen and built it into a first division finisher that won four of its seven games.

This season, Bruhn has 15 sophomores sprinkled through his first three squads. Five of them are tentatively listed as starters.

The group includes Pat Richter, an end from Madison; Dale Matthews, a guard from South Bend, Ind.; Merritt Norvell, a Jacksonville, Ill., halfback; Gerald Nena, an East Peoria, Ill., halfback; and John Fabry, a Green Bay product who appears to have the tightest grip on the assignment to

New London Club Host to 200 Boaters

New London — The New London Boat club will be host to about 200 visiting-boaters Saturday and Sunday.

Some of the visiting boaters from clubs at Appleton, Milwaukee, Winnebago, Berlin, Fremont, Neenah, Menasha, Oshkosh, Green Bay, Shawano, Fond du Lac, Fort Atkinson, Wisconsin Rapids and the Chicago area are expected to arrive Saturday.

The first boats to arrive Saturday afternoon will be led by Leo Promen, former mayor of Fond du Lac. Promen led the "silver dollar" cruise to New London several years ago.

Members of the New London Boat club will meet the cruisers down river and escort them to New London. The club also will be assisted by the Coast Guard and Coast Guard auxiliary in patrolling the river.

Foxes Recover From Bad Start to Surprise League

surprised long-time followers of local baseball. Pat Gillick (11-2) was probably the best pitcher in the league at the time of his promotion to Triple-A ball. Fire-balling Arne Thorsland, who got better as the season progressed, became the winningest pitcher in the club's history. Chuck Symeon and Dean Chance rounded out as classy a "big 4" as you'll see in this league in a long time. But, they weren't the whole show, either. Bert Barth, John Papa, "Buster" Narum, Bob Cooper and Elliott Coleman all came up with a number of fine performances in shorter tenures. In the relief pitching department, Jim Lebew had no peer in the first half of the season, and Dick Hunt took over as the sure-fire rally squelcher down the stretch.

The Foxes, after a miserable start (four straight losses, three of them by catastrophic scores) were discounted in pennant talk. The teams rated as "tough" in the early weeks were Sioux City, Burlington and Cedar Rapids. The Soo manager, Bobby Hofman, went so far as to predict flatly a pennant for his team. But, the Foxes slowly climbed the ladder, then took over to stay June 23. For a time, their hold was tenuous as other teams were "beefed up" by replacements. But the Foxes not only held on but pulled away to a 7-game lead. Then a rare slump cut it to 1 1/2 before a closing spurt — typical of a great club — put them out of reach.

Cardinals Take Second; Pirates Top Giants, 7-3

By The Associated Press

There's no longer any doubt: the most improved club in the National league is the St. Louis Cardinals and the most improved manager is the Redbirds' Solly Hemus.

Only Pittsburgh's Danny Murtaugh stands between Hemus and the coveted honor of National league's Manager of the Year.

In his first year as a big league manager, Hemus last season piloted the Cardinals to an undistinguished seventh place finish. His team won only 71 games, losing 83.

Full Month

With a full month still to go in the 1960 campaign, Hemus' Cardinals won their seventy-first game Wednesday night, squeezing out a 2-1 decision over Cincinnati. They have lost 55. The victory boosted the Cards into second place, seven games behind league-leading Pittsburgh.

The Pirates whipped San Francisco, 7-3. The Milwaukee Braves, beaten, 5-4, in 10 innings of the opener, won the second game from the Chicago Cubs, 11-7. Los Angeles downed Philadelphia, 3-1.

Beat Reds

Rookie left-hander Ray Sadecki and veteran outfielder Walter Moryn of the Cards teamed up to defeat the Reds. Sadecki pitched a 6-hitter for his eighth triumph.

Moryn walloped his tenth homer of the season, with one in the sixth, to account for both St. Louis runs off Jay Hook.

Roberto Clemente's hot bat cooled off the Giants in San Francisco. The Pittsburgh outfielder rapped three hits, including his twelfth homer, drove in two runs and scored, two more as the Pirates overcame an early 3-0 deficit.

Clem Labine, in relief, was credited with the victory.

Roger Craig hurled a 6-hitter and Junior Gilliam drove in all three Los Angeles runs in the Dodgers' triumph over Philadelphia.

Nieder Wins Gold Medal

when the chips were down in a major event," Nieder said. "I was determined to prove he was wrong."

Nieder indicated that when he cut loose with that tremendous heave of 64 feet, 6 3/4 inches on the next-to-last of his six throws Wednesday, he was tossing the iron ball into the teeth of his bitter rival, O'Brien.

Nieder's big toss represented a new Olympic record. O'Brien set the former standard of 60-11 1/2 in 1956.

O'Brien, winner of the Olympic crown in 1952 and 1956, finished second with 62-8 1/4. Dallas Long made it an American sweep by taking third with 62-4 1/4.

"Parry's words really ate into me," the 6-foot-3, 235-pound Army lieutenant from Lawrence, Kan., said. "O'Brien is a great competitor, the toughest I ever faced, but there's never been a man I wanted to beat more."

Nieder, 26, acknowledged that a wall of ice has existed between the two for months. Although on the same team, they never fraternized, seldom spoke.

Nieder beat O'Brien regularly this year until he aggravated an old football knee injury and later failed to qualify in the Olympic trials at Eugene, Ore.

"The whole world collapsed at my feet," he said. "I was ready to quit. Then I determined to make O'Brien eat his words. Later Dave Davis got hurt and I was put on the team."

"Last Saturday in practice I put the shot 67 feet, 1 inch (Nieder's pending world record is 65-10). I didn't tell anybody. I didn't dare think about it. But I felt then that I could win the Olympic gold medal."

McHan has a point edge on Starr in the first three games. Lamar was present for the scoring of 42 points, although in two of those came on a safety against the Bears, while Starr worked up 29 marks, including five field goals and two touchdowns — both vs. the Bears. McHan had five touchdowns — two vs. Steelers, one on the Giants, and two against the Bears — and two field goals.

Position is Tossup

While the Packer quarterback position is a tossup, the Cardinal QB-ing edge would seem to belong to John Roach, a third-year pitcher from SMU. He has the edge on the highly-publicized King Hill, who will also see some action. The third QB is George Izo, Notre Dame star and top draft choice last winter.

Hill led the club in passing last year with 82 completions and 181 attempts for 1015 yards — and average of 5.61 yards per pitch. Roach threw only 57 times, but averaged 5.96.

Cardinal Coach "Pop" Ivy also announced today that he Sept. 12-17 at the St. Louis Country club.

Competitions were held in 33 sections Tuesday, with three Bobby Joe Conrad, the club's Monday, and a total of 181 places were scheduled to be filled. There were 18 exemptions bringing the St. Louis total to 200.

The play at Garden City, N. Y., was only half completed as a thunderstorm washed out the second round.

Ties Course Record

Burdick's 64 round matched the course record held by professional Freddie Haas. He got his ace on the 182-yard par 3, eighth hole. His 134 total was eight under par and 11 strokes better than the second-place finisher in his district, Charles Rosen II of New Orleans.

Tommy Aaron of Gainesville, Ga., nearly matched Burdick without benefit of a hole-in-one. Aaron, qualifying at the Spartanburg, S. C., Country club, had 68-67—135 day night by the "only right over a part 72 course. He was runnerup in the national two years ago.

The New York Metropolitan District had the largest entry—133—and the most places—13. Chicago was next with 132 and 12.

There were no notable failures among the contenders. Buffalo's Ward Wettlaufer led the section at Lewiston, N. Y., with a 2-over-par 142, and Billy Joe Patton of Morgantown, N. Y., didn't seem able to solve. C., enjoyed a similar distinction at Indianapolis with 71-70—141.

Shoots Ace on Way to Torrid Round of 64

A hole in one on the New Orleans Country club course helped Bert Burdick of Baton Rouge, La., to a round of 64 and a 36-hole total of 134, good for top honors as the nation's amateur golfers bid for berths in the USGA national tournament.

Jones' Right Hand Dims Comeback Hopes of Olson

Chicago — (AP) — Former middleweight champion Carl "Bobo" Olson's comeback hopes were dimmed Wednesday night by the "only right hand punch" young Doug Jones tossed.

Jones, 23-year-old New Yorker, scored his sixteenth triumph without defeat when he kayoed Olson in 1:30 of the sixth round. Jones tossed a short left and a hard right uppercut, ending the scheduled 10-round Chicago stadium light heavyweight feature.

Olson, 179, had piled up a slight margin with an effective left hook which Jones, Joe Patton of Morgantown, N. Y., didn't seem able to solve. C., enjoyed a similar distinction at Indianapolis with 71-70—141.

Braves Split Doubleheader With Cubs

Chuck Cottier and Logan put Burdette ahead, 4-2, going into the eighth. Crandall got his with a man on base. The Cubs scored a run in the eighth on singles by Richie Ashburn and Will and an infield out before staging their late inning heroics.

The Braves got the bases filled with two out in the tenth inning but Don Elston got the slumping Henry Aaron on an easy out. Elston (8-7), who relieved starter Dick Ellsworth, got credit for the victory.

A 5-run, second-inning rally, featured by Billy Bruton's 3-run homer, got the Braves off to a lead they never relinquished in the second game. Bruton had struck out four times in the opener.

Milwaukee added another run in the third and two unearned runs in the fourth and held an 8-1 lead before the Cubs threatened.

The Cubs got four runs in the fifth, three on Frank Thomas' twentieth homer, but Milwaukee iced the game in the seventh with a 3-run outburst, touched off by Eddie Mathews' thirty-first homer.

Don McMahon, the third Milwaukee hurler, was credited with the victory in the second game and now is 3-6 for the season. The loser was Bob Anderson who is 7-9.

Tempting Outdoor Meals Featured for Summer's Last Big Holiday Weekend

Sauces With a Creative Touch make these popular barbecue meats more appealing. Tabasco Butter goes over the juicy, charcoal broiled steak, an easy-make glaze or rich barbecue sauce is brushed over the franks or hamburgers. The barbecue sauce goes well with chicken, too.

A Tasty Stuffing for the Ever Popular frankfurter combines mustard, pickle relish, celery seed, Chopped onion and butter. The franks are slit and then filled with this delicious Relish Butter just before they go on the grill in their respective buns.

BY LILLIAN MACKESY
Food-Crescent Food Editor

Cook-outs have become the great American pastime . . . and Labor day weekend offers a last chance for a special family holiday before the summer's gone.

Success in barbecue cookery depends on a few simple rules. The fire must be just right or the food will be scorched on the outside and raw on the inside. Sauces and marinades also can make an outdoor cook famous . . . have them ready at cooking time.

Build a fire big enough to have a good bed of glowing coals. Do not start cooking until the flames have died down and the charcoal has turned a grayish white. Have the grill far enough away from the coals so that flames from dripping fat will not touch the meat. Three inches is considered just about right for most cooking. Quench unwanted flare-ups with water . . . or beer if this subtle flavor is desirable . . . it's wonderful with bratwurst.

Grease the rack lightly. Plan ahead according to cooking times. For rare steak or hamburger, five minutes on each side is about right . . . increase time accordingly for desired doneness. Franks need

- but five minutes total grilling time with frequent turning . . . chicken takes longer and if meat is cooked on a spit, use a meat thermometer.
- Tabasco Butter
- 1/2 cup butter
 - 1/2 teaspoon Tabasco sauce
 - 2 tablespoons lime juice
- Cream together butter, Tabasco sauce and lime juice. Spread over broiled steak.
- Hamburger Glaze
- 1 cup catsup
 - 1 cup prepared mustard
 - 1/2 teaspoon Tabasco sauce
- Combine all ingredients, mixing well. Use to brush hamburgers during baking, broiling or grilling.
- Barbecue Sauce
- 2 tablespoons butter
 - 1 medium onion, chopped
 - 1 clove garlic, chopped
 - 1/2 cup chopped celery with leaves
 - 1 cup chopped green pepper
 - 1 can (20 ounces) tomatoes
 - 1 can (6 ounces) tomato paste
 - 1 bay leaf
 - 3 tablespoons unsulphured molasses
 - 2 teaspoons dry mustard
 - 1/3 cup vinegar
 - 1 teaspoon cloves
 - 1 teaspoon allspice
 - 2 slices lemon
 - 1 1/2 teaspoons salt
 - 2 teaspoons Tabasco sauce
- Melt butter; add onion and garlic. Cook until onion is tender but not brown. Add remaining ingredients and simmer for 30 minutes. Let stand until cool. Strain if desired. Use to brush chicken, ribs, frankfurters or hamburgers.
- Savory Marinade
- 1 cup wine or mild vinegar
 - 2 tablespoons sugar
 - 2 teaspoons minced onion
 - 1 teaspoon salt
 - 1/2 teaspoon curry powder
- Mix ingredients and divide among four to six servings of fruit before folding in foil.
- Stuffed Frankfurters
- 1 pound frankfurters
 - 1/2 cup butter
 - 2 teaspoons prepared mustard
 - 1/2 teaspoon celery seed
 - 1 tablespoon pickle relish
 - 1 tablespoon chopped onion
 - 10 frankfurter buns
 - tomato wedges
- Combine butter, mustard, relish, onion and celery seed. Turn to Page 2, Col. 1

A New Idea to Try With Grilled chicken is barbecued fruit. Here peaches, pears, plums and oranges are prepared for individual servings, dredged with sugar, then sprinkled with savory marinade before being folded snugly into foil packets. When the chicken has cooked for about 20 minutes, place the fruit bundles on the grill. Cook five minutes on one side and then on the other.

A Labor Day Outing Wouldn't be complete without fresh roasting ears. The trick to making corn-on-the-cob super-delicious as a barbecue special is to soak unshucked ears in salted water, then place them wet but not dripping above the coals. Cook until the husks are brown, turning the ears occasionally.

Lobster Tails Make a Sumptuous, easily prepared cook-out meat. When brushed and basted with Spicy Orange Butter Sauce, they become a gourmet barbecue dish.

Lonesome Widower Asks Ann How to Find Exciting Life

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm it. a lonesome widower, 58, in excellent health and could retire if I wanted to. I continue to work because it keeps me alive. I'd shrivel up and die if I had no office to go to every day.

The question I want to ask Landers is an unusual one. I've been reading your column for over four years and I would like to know how I can get myself into some of the interesting jams that people write to you about. Nothing like that ever happens to me. Thanks for any help you can offer.

—Status Quo
Dear Status: Every living human is a potential candidate for this column. Relax. Dad—you could get yours tomorrow.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm so upset I can't think straight. Please try to make some sense out of this letter. If I wait until morning when my head is clear I'll never mail it. I'm 19 and share an apartment with a cousin who is 23. We are both beauty operators living away from home. My folks let me leave Manitowoc and go to Minneapolis to work because they had so much faith in my older cousin.

Well tonight I left the movie early because I had a headache. When I got home I walked right in on my cousin and a real hoody-looking guy. They were very embarrassed and believe me they had a right to be.

Now, Ann, I just can't continue to live with my cousin after this. Shall I tell my folks the whole story? They'll never be able to understand why I moved out, if I don't explain. Help, and soon, please.

—Bundle of Nerves
Dear Bundle: Keep your lip zipped. If you repeat the sordid story to your family it will place your cousin in an impossible position. In years to come you'll be happy you kept quiet.

Suggest to your cousin that since she created this unfortunate problem she should accept the responsibility of finding new living quarters, rather than place the burden on you. Then seek another roommate—a girl whose moral standards match your own more closely.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm worried about our son who just turned 17. He has always been serious-minded, a great reader and an outstanding student. Larry never had time for girls and he made no secret of it.

Suddenly his personality has taken on a new shape. He spends long periods of time on the telephone. He takes great pains to comb his hair just so. He recently bought himself a nail file and last night I saw him shining his shoes. I hope this doesn't mean an end to his school work and studying.

My husband says it's just a phase. Is he right?

—Standing By
Dear Standing: It's a phase all right and with a little luck it may last 60 years. A boy 17 should be noticing girls. This doesn't necessarily mean he'll become less serious-minded. It merely indicates his interests are fanning out—which is good.

To learn the difference between a marriage that "settles down" and one that "gets dull," send for Ann Landers' booklet, "What To Expect From Marriage," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

(Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

New Moves for the Long Coffee Table

Long coffee tables have a way of leaving their posts in angles to a wall so its length reaches into the room rather than crowds wall area. A coffee table's height seems right of an urge to rearrange the furniture. Where should the long table go? It might stretch along a wall below a large grouping of picture, but usually free wall space is too short for it.

Friends wondered if Lana, when wed to May, might be able to regain custody of her teen-age daughter, Cheryl.

The column May objected to criticized Miss Turner's upke of Cheryl, now 17, needs of the home.

South won the first trick with the king of spades and led the jack of diamonds for a fun-esse East won with the king of diamonds and thought about his return.

Had West led from a spade suit headed by the queen or by the A-Q-J? This would be an easy problem to solve if South had clumsily won the first trick with the ace of spades. The king of spades told East nothing that he didn't already know.

East finally decided that South's jump to three no trump was more likely to show two spade stoppers than just the king. Hence East decided to shift to a club.

When East led the conventional card, his fourth-highest club, South made sure of the contract by playing low. West had to win the trick and could not safely renew the attack against the king of clubs. West could take a second club trick, but then South had the rest.

No Leisure

East didn't have time to be leisurely about his club return. It was necessary to win four club tricks on the run.

East's proper return is the nine of clubs, but even the queen would be better than a low club. If South ducked the nine of clubs, East would continue with the queen of clubs. This would enable the defenders to take four club tricks, thus defeating the contract.

Storage Boxes Must be Clean

Trim plastic storage boxes for shoes and "folding" clothes play a big part in making closets neat and attractive — on one condition. They must be kept sparkling clean.

Fortunately, this is easy. Just wash them regularly with a cloth wrung out of soap or detergent suds. Then wipe-rinse and dry. At house-cleaning time, these boxes can be washed in deep suds just like dishes.

Common Ancestors Bred First Poodles

The poodle is an aristocrat among dogs. But dog experts say his ancestors were just rough-and-tumble water dogs that crashed high society.

He became known as the French poodle because ladies thought it fashionable to get their dogs as well as their gowns from the sophisticated Paris shops.

WANTS FAMILY SUPPORT

I am a widow with no parents or grandparents. When my son is married next September, could I have one of my brothers or sisters or a friend stand with me in the receiving line? I feel strange about being the only one on my side of the family.

Miss Davis Answers:

You may be nervous now about being in the receiving line, but I can assure you that your jitters will disappear when the time comes. You really won't be alone or feel alone, for there will be someone on either side of you and by that time you will have become better acquainted. I am equally certain that the bride's mother will be very much aware that you will be a very special guest and will take you "under her wing." It wouldn't be correct for you to ask anyone to stand with you. Nor would it be correct for you to ask the bride's mother's permission.

Main Speakers at the Methodist Wisconsin Area Pastors' school spend many hours in the book store, examining the latest books on religion and philosophy. Left to right are Dr. Chester A. Pennington, Minneapolis; Dr. Helmar Ringgren, Garrett Biblical Institute; Bishop Ralph Taylor Alton, bishop of the Wisconsin area; Dr. Henry Bullock, editor of church school publications; Dr. James B. Ansley, chaplain of Harris hospital, Fort Worth, Texas; and Dr. Faye Sayegh, formerly with the United Nations and now a member of the staff of Stanford university.

Calls Moralism Besetting Sin Of Methodism

Pastor Says That Good Behavior Is Not Enough

"The God who judges is the God who loves—the great word of the Christian faith is 'Grace'." Dr. Chester A. Pennington said in his second lecture at the Methodist Wisconsin Area Pastors' school Wednesday night.

"The besetting sin of modern Methodism is moralism—do right," Dr. Pennington stated. He said it is not so much what we do, but why we do it.

The lecturer observed that moralism in the past often was negative and filled with "don't do..." This was followed by a "building the Kingdom" phase, full of good causes. Now self-help psychology has taken over with the heresy of saving one's self by psychological works.

"Jesus saves us from moralism in two ways," Dr. Pennington declared. "He deepened the commandments by saying that external good behavior is not enough, that we can't do good things until we are good persons, and that goodness must proceed from the inside out."

Grace For All

"Jesus also saves by the complexity of his teaching concerning the Kingdom of God," he said. God gives His grace free to all men, regardless of their deserving the pastimes. See that the cage is well supplied with toys. Let your bird fly around the house at least an hour a day. Be sure he has plenty of fresh water, and good, nourishing seed or food. The addition of a second bird and cage placed within the sight and sound of the offender would help. As I said, don't condemn him before checking church. Minneapolis, will present his third and final lecture to the Methodist pastors.

Echo Star Performer for Fox Cities

Television programs, youngsters' bedtime routines and even baseball games seem to take second place to the appearance of Echo as the communications satellite twinkles its way through Fox Cities skies on a clear night.

Wednesday night during the fourth inning of the Foxes-Topeka Reds game at Goodland field, the 3,369 spectators forgot the ball game as they craned their necks upward to watch Echo make its first pass across the sky. Even some of the players watched the satellite between innings.

The viewing takes the same pattern throughout the city. Neighborhoods come alive with small clusters of people as Echo moves across the sky. A few people come out and the public at 8 p.m. to day.

A lecture and discussion series dealing with "The Elder Citizen" is being given at the Pastors' school by the Rev. James B. Ansley, chaplain of Harris hospital, Fort Worth, Texas.

Must be Needed

The Rev. Mr. Ansley has presented the thesis that getting old is not "bad." He added that although some old people are sickly, it is a truly modern challenge to the church and to all of society to help these people be needed and active, because they have unique abilities.

The lecturer said that a 65-year-old is different from one 50 years ago, but 65 is still the retirement age in industry, as it was then. Many of these men are in peak condition, he added.

"In our society work means status, friends and contacts, and self respect. To give the feeling of being needed is the greatest service we can give to the aged. To feel not needed is to be dead long before you actually die," the Rev. Mr. Ansley said.

Peninsula's Last Drama Called Best

'Two for Seesaw' Most Substantial Of Players' Bill

BY WILLIAM WEAVER

Post-Crescent News Service

Fish Creek—Whatever the merits of the old adage about saving the best for last, the audience at the Peninsula Players' theater-in-a garden saw a good demonstration of the initial performance of William Gibson's "Two for Seesaw." It was not the smoothest opening night of the season by any means, but the offering was the best we have accorded this year.

I found it very refreshing to sit through an evening of highly absorbing, beautifully realized drama. Not only is "Two for the Seesaw" the most substantial article on the players' 1960 bill, but it is also one of the few really good plays to issue from Broadway in the last few years. At the same time it is drama in the best sense, it is also often amusing in the way that only painstakingly examined and artfully transcribed reality can be.

"Two for the Seesaw" is a very intricate character show. The only two characters are Jerry Ryan, a brittle and sensitive young lawyer from Nebraska who has run to New York to escape the torments of his fractured marriage, and Gittel Mesca, a child of nature from the Bronx whose life is also something of a mess. The play is about their love affair, but it is not a "love story."

Seldom have I seen the baffling, puzzling, frustrating struggle of two personalities to find themselves and each other—the terrible paradox of self-knowledge and mutual understanding—more vividly and exhaustively explored than in "Two for the Seesaw."

No aspect of this intimate situation is dismissed with a cliché or slick evasion. "Two for the Seesaw" is funny, poignant and gripping, but most of all raw and real. It avoids both possible extremes currently often applied to similar material: the facile veneer shallow formula of the Broadway sex-comedy and the grotesque grande guignolerie of the more recent Tennessee Williams.

Jeanette Leahy and Scott Hale undertook to recreate the plight of Jerry Ryan and Gittel Mesca, and in spite of some opening night difficulties they handled the tremendously difficult assignment well.

Build Highways to Boost Railroads

Louisville, Ky. —(U)—One way to boost railroad passenger traffic, James C. McCloy says, is to build better super-highways.

McCloy, a veteran of 32 years of railroad, says more and better highways mean more accidents. This tends to scare people off the roads and onto trains.

The 70-year-old Louisville man retires today as district passenger agent for the Louisville & Nashville railroad.

sitive rapport between the two actors.

If, particularly in the early scenes of the show, the required rapport was occasionally lost on account of trouble, it was easy to understand and forgive. A persistent feeling that this trouble will clear up in subsequent performances was fostered and reinforced by the real brilliance and éclat which was achieved in the second act and sustained in the third.

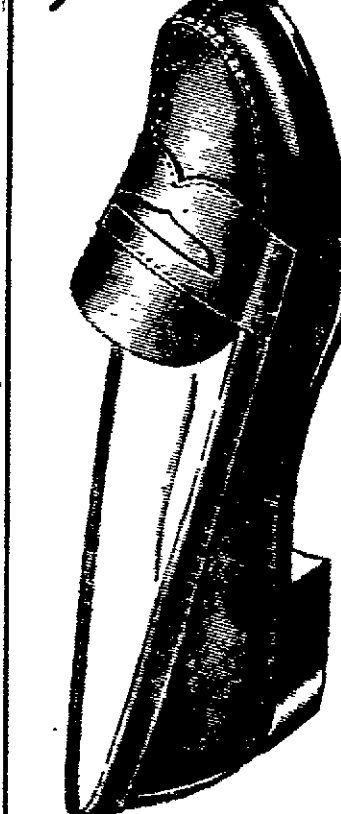

The technical staff of the players' had their own intricacies to contend with and they negotiated them without a fumble.

"Two for the Seesaw" will be seen Sunday at 6 and 9:30 instead of the usual 7:30 performance. Otherwise the performances will remain as usual: through Friday at 8:30 and Saturday at 6:00 and 9:30.

Tiled Floors Help Mom's Housework

What's sauce for the goose is sauce for the gander. If dad can take off for 18 holes of golf, then mother should have some play time, too. One way to help mother break away from the grip of housework is to use a durable floor material that's quick and easy to clean — and doesn't need waxing. Because of moderate initial cost and extremely long life, quarry tile is a good material offering definite economy for floors.

PET DOCTOR

By A. W. Moller, D.V.M.

Q. What causes our parakeet to willfully pull out his feathers? He's practically bald. Mrs. M.M. OF Winnebago, Canada.

A. Before I tell you what I suspect, let's give your bird the benefit of the doubt by placing a clean white cloth on his cage overnight. If the cloth reveals no evidence of mites, and no skin irritation is evident; if the bird eats and drinks normally, I'm afraid this is a vice. Once acquired, this is a hard habit to break, but it can be remedied. "An idle mind is the devil's workshop" and this applies to the bird — brain too. Keeping your pet busy isn't as ludicrous as it may sound. Destructive feather pulling is rarely seen in aviaries. The birds are too busily occupied with each other to indulge in such petty pastimes. See that the cage is well supplied with toys. Let your bird fly around the house at least an hour a day. Be sure he has plenty of fresh water, and good, nourishing seed or food. The addition of a second bird and cage placed within the sight and sound of the offender would help. As I said, don't condemn him before checking church. Minneapolis, will present his third and final lecture to the Methodist pastors.

This usually happens if you have round shoulders, a roll of flesh at the back of your neck, or prominent shoulder blades. This is a difficult, sometimes impossible alteration to make after a dress is cut out, since you need more length between the neck and shoulder blades.

However, you can try refitting the dress by ripping and releasing the back shoulder seams until the grain of fabric is straight across upper back. Refit the shoulder seam letting it out near the neckline and taking it in at the armhole. You may also find that you must rip the underarm seams and refit the lower back. Take in the underarm seams in the back and trim armholes if back extends up into it (fig. 6).

If this doesn't work, then there is nothing you can do unless it is a dress you have made and you have extra fabric. Then you can take the blouse apart, and add a shoulder yoke.

Miss Scott is always glad to hear from her readers, and whenever possible will use their questions in her column, but because of the great volume of mail received daily, she cannot answer individual letters.

Hints on Altering

By Patricia Scott

Often, you will see two different pattern alterations for what seems to be the same figure problem.

For instance, the usual alteration used for enlarging a pattern at the waistline is simply to slash the blouse front and back straight up almost to mid-point of armhole. Then you spread pieces the necessary amount.

This is fine if you have a large waistline with excess measurements evenly distributed, and a flat tummy. But

If your problem is a large abdomen, then only the front bodice piece is altered, and in a different way. The pattern must be made larger below the bust and around the waist. Also, it may be necessary to add more length to the center front.

If only a little is to be added, draw a cutting line across the bust line (fig. 1). Cut along this line, almost to the edge of the underarm. Then move section B down at center front until the pattern is wide enough and long enough. Extend the center front line from section A and join to the lower edge of section B (fig. 2).

If a great deal must be added, draw cutting lines as illustrated in fig. 3. Cut along these lines. Then spread section B away from sections A

Appleton Machine Buys Oregon Sawmill

Corvallis Company Manufacturing, Sales And Engineering Part of Local Company

Corvallis, Ore. — The Appleton Machine Company, Appleton, has acquired the Mater Machine Works, Inc., here, manufacturers of packaged and automated sawmills. The change in ownership is effective Sept. 1.

Final papers transferring the 15-year-old Corvallis company were signed by Tany Agronin, president of Appleton, and Milton H. Mater. No price was given.

The purchase involves Mater company's manufacturing sales and engineering, but does not involve any machinery or real estate in Corvallis. Sales and engineering will be continued at Corvallis, which will be known as the Mater division of Appleton. Mater Engineering, a company separate from Mater Machine Works, also was acquired and will be operated by Appleton.

Add Employees

Mater's line of sawmill machinery will be manufactured at Appleton. It probably will necessitate adding to Appleton's 180-man payroll.

"This combination of the most modern line of sawmill machinery, with the best of the old line manufacturers of pulp and paper machinery, will permit us to expand greatly our services to the lumber industry," Agronin said.

Vice President

Mater will be vice president of the Mater division of Appleton. "This transaction," he said, "has given us an opportunity to continue our expansion by tying in with a large firm prominent in the forest products industry."

The Mater company, founded 15 years ago this coming

Slight Gain in Share Prices

Electronics and Utilities Among Leaders in Upturn

New York — The stock market took a slight jog to the upside early this afternoon in fairly active trading.

The advance was irregular. Autos were up uniformly. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon rose .40 to 220.80 with the industrials up .80, the rails off .10 week, and the utilities up .20.

Gains among tobaccos, electronics and utilities helped lift the general tone. Oils were unchanged to a bit lower. Rails and chemicals were mixed.

The New York Stock Exchange was still having trouble with its two problem children, Telautograph and regular.

Getting a Wet Sponge in the Face, as the clown at a neighborhood fair, is Scott Ingman, 9, of 719 E. Byrd street. Joe Heinrich, 4, of 2020 N. Drew street, watched his brother, Pat, 3, score a hit at the children's summer-fun event.

Comptometer. A pile up of orders and a thin supply of stock have kept these stocks up on trading most of this week.

Telautograph did not open for more than 2 hours, then sold at 24 1/2, off 1 on 18,000 shares.

Telautograph also faded after the opening block. The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 2.41 change was still having trouble with its two problem children, Telautograph and regular.

Appleton Youth Fined For Disorderly Conduct In High Cliff Park

Chilton — Arnold McKenzie, 21, of 117 E. Harris street, Appleton, was fined $25 by Justice Leo Kartheiser after he pleaded guilty of disorderly conduct.
